higher at some markets, hog receipts continued to dip below normal for this time of year. Sheep receipts also were up.

Oren Lee Staley, NFO president, said today, "We anticipated this because a tremendous effort has been made by processors to direct livestock to four terminals, mainly Chicago, Indianapolis, Omaha and Kansas City."

He said the direct buying points and direct delivery points, which Staley contends handles 70 per cent of the livestock, were "holding very tight." The terminal markets handle only 30 per cent of the livestock, he said.

Staley said NFO checkers outside the terminal markets report that "livestock is coming in from much farther distances than normal."

Prices Climb

Prices for steers, heifers and butcher hogs climbed to three- and four-year highs at the Baltimore Union Stockyards today.

The increased receipts at Chicago was attributed by livestock experts to higher prices paid last week.

Feeder cattle are steers and heifers which have not been fattened for slaughter. They normally are purchased from ranchers and then sold to processors. Staley contends processors are buying the feeder cattle to make up for the shortage of fat cattle.

Price Fixing

Staley also disclosed that he asked the Department of Justice and congressional committees a week ago to investigate the possibility that impending higher meat prices may be the result of "collusion and price fixing" by chain stores and a major packer.

Chain stores and some packing companies announced Saturday that retail meat prices will be increased this week because of wholesale price increases.

Proxmire Believes Congress to Pass Farm Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., predicted today Congress will pass a farm bill before it quits and added, "the administration has a big stake in it."

It is Proxmire's view that the Kennedy administration will receive much of what it wants when the long-delayed and controversial measure is finally enacted—even though many of the mandatory features have been knocked off.

Proxmire, a member of the Senate agriculture committee, said the final version likely will authorize continuation of the 1962 emergency food grain program for 1963.

Cool Heads or Attack on Cuba? Latin Americans Worried About Hot War in Western Hemisphere

BY GERRY ROCHAUD
Chicago Daily News Service

MEXICO CITY — Many Latin Americans are hoping that cool heads will prevail during the current U.S. furor over the Communist arms buildup in Cuba.

But there are some, particularly in Central America, who would prefer armed intervention by Uncle Sam immediately.

Talks with diplomats and others from various Latin American nations reveal considerable differences of opinion. The predominant view however leans on the side of caution.

"We don't want a Korea in the Western Hemisphere," said one South American. "We have enough problems as it is without that."

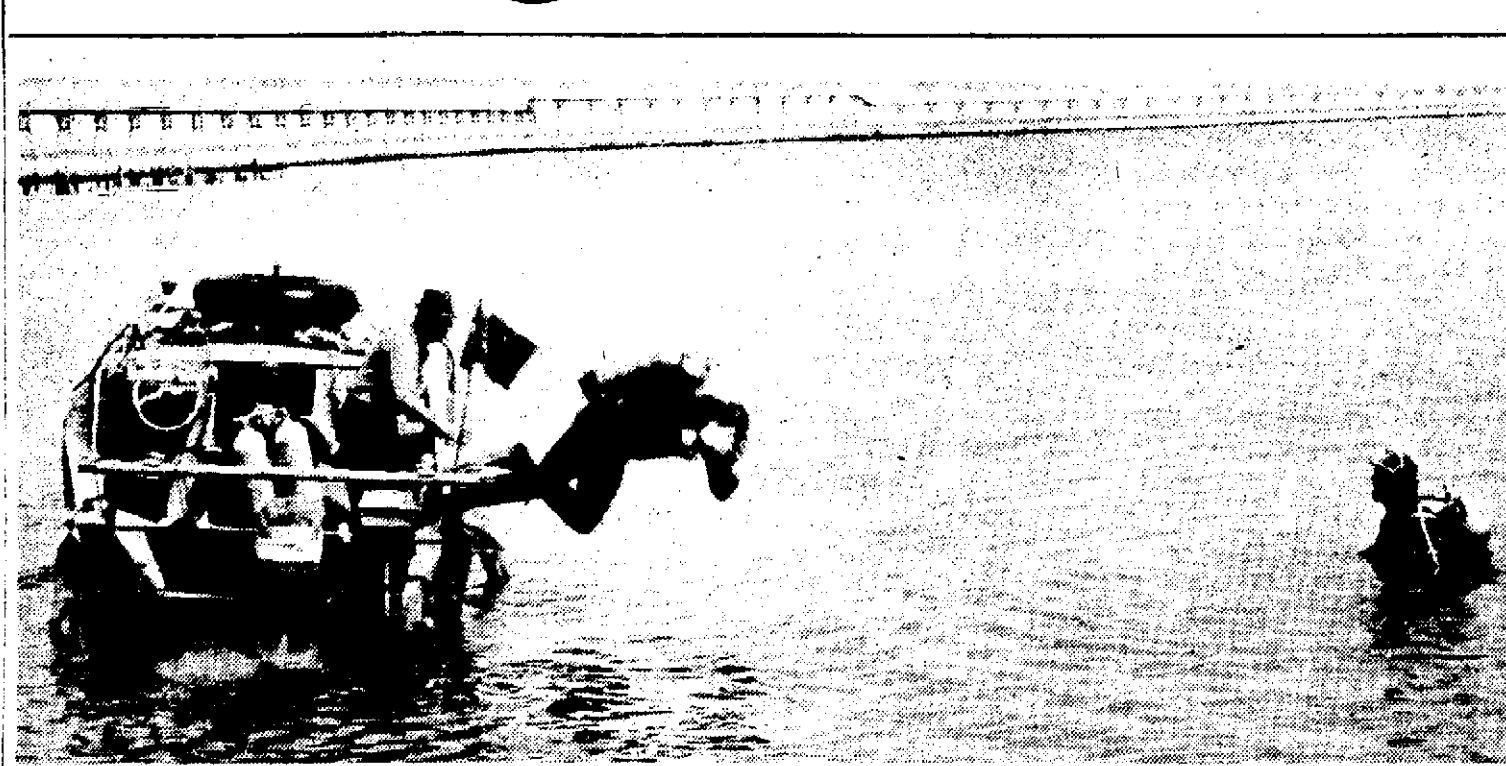

Had a Channel

One view frequently expressed is "You had your chance to take care of Fidel Castro at the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion. Now it's too late and the risks for us and the rest of the world are too great."

Yet even those who oppose armed U.S. action against the growing Soviet base concede uneasily that the greater Castro's military strength becomes the more intolerable it will be not only for the United States but for all of Latin America.

Few Latin Americans really believe that Castro has any serious invasion schemes that the Russians would permit him to put into action. But many of them feel that as time goes by Cuba will become a giant training camp and arsenal for dissident Latin

Negro Church Fires Probed

Drive Launched to Raise $25,000 For Rebuilding

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Plans are being made to raise $25,000 to rebuild two Negro churches which burned in this racially troubled southwest Georgia area where an FBI agent was attacked by a white farmer in the latest outbreak of violence.

The farmer, Virgil Edmund Puckett, 58, was held in jail on a charge of assaulting a federal officer.

Civil rights leaders pledged to help rebuild the churches in the nearby Sasser area and intensify their Negro voter registration campaign.

Honorary Chairman

Negro athlete Jackie Robinson agreed to serve as honorary chairman of a drive to rebuild the Mount Olive Baptist church at Sasser, 14 miles northwest of Albany; and the Mount Mary Baptist church, about four miles from the other church. Both burned Sunday.

Two of the FBI agents in the area were investigating the fire at the Mount Mary church when a farmer drove up in a truck, verbally abused the agents, threatened to whip them and four spectators present, and jumped to the ground.

The FBI said agent Paul Mohr was hit a glancing blow which broke his glasses.

Chicago Woman Killed in Crash

Shawano County Fatality One of 10 for Wisconsin Over Weekend

A Chicago woman was killed and a Fond du Lac man critically injured in a one-car accident west of Shawano early Sunday morning.

Nine others died in state automobile accidents over the weekend, raising the 1962 traffic toll to 623 compared to 601 on this date a year ago.

Gerald J. Quimby, 21, of 601 W. Bragg St., Fond du Lac, the driver, is in critical condition at the Shawano Hospital. Virginia Zar-now, 23, of 2708 Melrose Road, Chicago, was dead on arrival at the hospital.

The Quimby car was traveling east on State 29 six miles west of Shawano at 6:15 a.m. Sunday when it went off the road into the left ditch, down a steep embankment, struck a tree, and landed on its left side. Both passengers were thrown from the car.

Deal on Berlin, Cuba Disturbs Sen. Keating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says he is disturbed over indications that top U.S. and Soviet officials may be mulling over a possible diplomatic deal involving Cuba and Berlin.

"In brass-tacks language it would mean that Premier Khrushchev has told President Kennedy, 'You lay off on Berlin. We'll lay off on Cuba,'" said Keating in a weekend radio-television interview.

Divers Fail To Find Metal From Sputnik

MANITOWOC — Divers, working at the request of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration, failed to find traces of Sputnik metal during a two-hour sweep of the Lake Michigan breakwater area Sunday afternoon.

Three members of the Aquachiefers from Milwaukee worked the area. The divers said mud and roiled water hampered their search. Dredging operations were carried out in a shipping channel Friday and Saturday. Divers said they were unable to see and had to feel their way along the bottom.

Searches have been conducted in areas of the state during the last four days in an attempt to find pieces of the Russian Sputnik that fell on Wisconsin early Wednesday. Gale V. Highsmith, Milwaukee, a Moonwatch member, theorized scraps of Sputnik 51 near Janesville. Killed were a Richard Foss, 23, of Afton, Mrs. Genevieve Locast, 38, and her twin sister, Mrs. Geraldine Wallisch, and Mrs. Joan Bell, 27, all of rural Beloit.

Struck Embankment

Terry Bostrock, 19, Stoughton, was injured fatally early Sunday when his car struck an embankment about four miles from his home.

A. J. Flynn, 24, Kenosha, was injured fatally late Saturday when the motorcycle he was driving collided with a car in Kenosha.

Robert King Jr., 2, Appleton, died at an Appleton hospital Saturday of injuries sustained Friday when he was struck by an automobile near his home.

Richard J. Ederer, 63, Spring Green, was injured fatally Friday night in a two-car collision on Highway 14 near Mazomanie in Dane County.

La Crosse Greets Miss Engh

Miss Wisconsin's Act Cut; Was 'Too Risque'

LA CROSSE (AP)—Miss Wisconsin, Joan Mary Engh, who finished second in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, came home late Sunday night to be welcomed by a crowd of 600 persons who had waited in the rain for more than three hours to greet her.

A crowd of more than 2,000 persons was on hand earlier in the evening to welcome the 21-year old blonde beauty but many departed after learning her airplane had been delayed.

The faithful remained, however, and greeted Miss Engh as she stepped from the plane. Escorted by an American Legion honor guard, she mounted a truck and expressed her thanks to the home folks who welcomed her back.

Said Prayers

"All I want to do is to come back to the wonderful people of Wisconsin," Miss Engh said. "I prayed on the stage Saturday that I could come back as a runner up."

Miss Engh, a University of Wisconsin junior, who is 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weighs 118 pounds, said she was relieved because she was not chosen Miss America.

"There's a lot of duty and responsibility to being Miss America," she said. "I wouldn't get home for a whole year and I think I'd miss all my friends."

Miss Engh said she didn't think she would get as far as she did in the national competition because her talent act was changed. The change was made by the pageant production committee.

Communists Charge Plane Operated as Part of American Spying Program

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China, reporting it shot down one of two U2 planes the Chinese Nationalists bought from the United States, charged today the flight over Communist soil was part of a U.S. spy program.

The Nationalists confirmed that one of the high-altitude U2s they have been operating for nearly two years disappeared Sunday on a routine reconnaissance mission over the Red mainland.

A Nationalist spokesman said the U2s were bought from the Lockheed Corporation in the United States in 1960 and put into operation that December.

A State Department spokesman said in Washington that the U2 purchases were made with U.S. approval, but that operation of the planes was solely a Nationalist matter.

Ben Bella Established In Algiers

Crowds Cheer as Soviet-Equipped Troops Enter City

ALGIERS (AP) — Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and regular army Col. Houari Boumedienne were Algeria's rulers today and preparing to nominate the nation's first legislature heavily weighted in their favor.

Boumedienne marched 5,000 men of his Communist-equipped Army into Algiers Sunday ending the chaotic, seven-weeks occupation of the city of rebellious guerrilla forces of Wilaya (zone) No. 4.

The smart, well-disciplined regular troops were given a tumultuous welcome as they drove up and down the streets of the capital in flagrant violation of an agreement with Wilaya 4's leaders to demilitarize the city.

Civilians Cheer

With roar after roar of cheering, the civilian crowds expressed both their pride in their "national people's army" and their relief to be freed of the oppressive Wilaya 4 regime.

The guerrilla leaders had run the city at gunpoint and sought to impose an unpopular Moslem puritanism. They also used their

The latest U2 incident, announced over Peiping radio, came five days after the Soviet Union protested that an American-piloted U2 had violated Soviet air space over Sakhalin Island north of Japan. The United States admitted that one of its patrol planes might have been blown off course by high winds.

London Locale Has 'Blue Rain'

LONDON (AP)—Blue rain mysteriously sprinkled a 30-mile stretch of countryside basking in the Sabbath sun near London.

From clear skies, and without warning, the blue rain showered the peaceful towns of Egham, Staines, Chertsey, Virginia Water, Wentworth and Thorpe.

It dried quickly and left a blue stain that wouldn't wash off.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said it must have come from planes taking part in Britain's annual giant air show at nearby Farnborough.

The blue rain, it was explained, came from jet planes that had been equipped with blue dye to color their vapor trails, and make a more spectacular display.

Senate Hearings on Call-Up Plans Begin

Defense Secretary to be First Witness on Investigation of Request to Recall Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee begins hearings today on President Kennedy's request for authority to order 150,000 reservists back to active military duty if needed.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was scheduled to be the first witness in the closed session. If past handling of similar requests is a guide, Congress may complete action within a week. Leaders of both parties have pledged to support Kennedy's request.

High administration figures say the President's request is based primarily on concern over the tense Berlin situation. There also has been speculation that Kennedy made the move to show that the United States is prepared to meet any serious military threat arising from the shipment of Communist bloc arms and men to Cuba.

Spy Attempted Suicide With Hidden Drugs

Doctors Say Soblen Still in Coma, May Have Brain Damage

LONDON (AP)—A report today said drugs smuggled into Brixton Prison hospital enabled Dr. Robert A. Soblen to make his latest desperate bid to evade U.S. justice. The fugitive spy still is unconscious and doctors said convulsions indicate he may have suffered brain damage.

The Daily Mirror said investigators have determined that the drug Soblen took was not stocked by the hospital. Soblen, under a life prison sentence in the United States as a wartime spy for the Russians, has been in a coma since he collapsed in an ambulance Thursday on his way to the airport for deportation to New York. He had taken an overdose of barbiturates.

Woman Suspected

The Sunday Pictorial said a woman who brought food for Soblen was under investigation. The food was left at the prison hospital's gate.

There was no official word on the Home Office investigation into how Soblen got the pills. Earlier it was speculated that he had hoarded sleeping pills prescribed by prison doctors. The 61-year-old psychiatrist suffers from leukemia and said the pain interfered with his sleeping.

A Hillingdon Hospital bulletin Sunday said Soblen's convulsions, which began late Saturday night, "have to a great extent been controlled. But he (Soblen) remains unconscious."

No Change

Doctors said today there had been no further change in Soblen's condition.

Dr. Cyril G. Barnes, who heads the medical team seeking to rouse Soblen, said the convulsions began soon after the runaway spy's symptoms of heart fatigue eased.

"We are administering drugs and they are proving efficient in controlling the convulsions," he said.

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The Nina, replica of Columbus' ship, is making slow progress on the first leg of its trip to America. Local fishermen reported today.

U.N. Plans End To $250 Million Congo Situation

Katanga Leader's Moves Should be Clear by Deadline

Chicago Daily News Service

UNITED NATIONS — Major decisions to wind up the $250 million U.N. Congo military operation this fall have been taken by acting Sec. Gen. Thant and his top aides.

The showdown will come the first week in October, according to present plans.

By then, it should be clear whether Moise Tshombe, president of secessionist Katanga province, really has accepted the Thant plan for a federal Congo with unified army and shared mining revenues.

The U.N. Security Council will be called in early October, if Tshombe continues to hold out, the delegates said.

The council then will take either one of two decisions: Authorize U.N. force to be used against Katanga, including economic sanctions and not excluding military moves; Or pull out the U.N. Congo forces, leaving it to the Congolese and their allies in Africa, Europe, Washington and Moscow to fight it out.

The guarded optimism here on Tshombe's intentions is based largely on the good support Thant has been getting lately from major Western nations.

The Soviets reacted to this last week by attacking the Thant Congo plan as having been produced by "collusion of gangsters," who were listed as United States, Britain, France and Belgium.

The Russian attack is not expected to be effective however, because Thant's Congo policy also has solid Asian and African backing.

Heavy Downpours Give Parts of State Over Inch of Rain

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin got a good soaking during the weekend with some sections receiving more than an inch and a half of rain.

Rain continued to fall in northern and western areas at mid-morning today while skies were mostly cloudy throughout the rest of the state.

The heaviest precipitation recorded in a 48-hour period ended early today was 1.65 inches at Whitnall Park in the Milwaukee area. Mequon had 1.59 inches, while Shorewood received an inch and a half.

48-Hour Amounts

Milwaukee's General Mitchell Field reported 1.41 inches, including three quarters of an inch in the 24-hour period ended shortly after daybreak today.

Other 48-hour amounts included Superior-Duluth area 1.38, Beloit-Rockford area 1.29, Green Bay 1.13, Eau Claire 1.09, La Crosse 1.07, Wausau .94, Madison .72, and Lone Rock .64.

Removes Strontium 90

Common Clay Tested To Purify Radioactivity

BY FRANK CAREY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Common clay offers a cheap and efficient means of purifying water contaminated by radioactive fallout from a nuclear attack, a government scientist reported today.

Widely occurring types of clay also offer a good bet for aiding in the disposal of radioactive "garbage" — the wastes of the atomic industry — the American Chemical Society was told by radiological chemist William J. Lacy of the federal Office of Civil Defense.

In a report prepared for the opening of the 142nd national meeting of the ACS—a conclave being attended by more than 10,000 chemists and chemical engineers — Lacy described research conducted at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn. National Laboratory.

6 Types Tested

Six types of clay were tested for their ability to remove radioactive strontium-90 and cesium-137 from the liquid wastes of nuclear reactors.

Those are two of the three most-feared radioactive isotopes which also occur in the fallout from nuclear weapons explosions.

Radioactive iodine is the third. Declaring that reactor wastes are similar, in general, to water supplies which would be contaminated by fallout in a full-scale nuclear attack, Lacy said:

1. All of the six clays tested showed good ability to remove cesium from the wastes, and four of the six showed high efficiency in removing radioactive strontium.

Sponge Action

2. The clays work by absorbing the radioactive materials — much like the action of a sponge—once they are added to a liquid containing the dangerous, radiant stuff.

3. An ounce of clay is enough to remove most of the strontium-90 from a gallon of water under some conditions, while cesium-137 can be removed three times as efficiently. The chemist said that simply stirring the clay with the water removes about 85 per cent of the strontium, and that more than 90 per cent can be removed by letting the water flow through a column of the clay.

Additional Use

4. The tests demonstrate that in addition to its usefulness for the decontamination of radioactively polluted water following a nuclear attack, this method has application in the disposal of radioactive waste.

On the latter point, Lacy explained that absorption of the radioactive material onto the clay reduces by many hundred-fold the volume of highly radioactive material that must be stored.

Lacy said the clay soils tested, ranked in the order of their ability, to remove strontium-90, were: Conasauga shale, Fithian illite, New Mexico kaolinite, Wyoming bentonite, North Carolina vermiculite, and Utah hallysoite.

Poet Returns From Russia With Secret

Robert Frost Says He Has Surprise About Soviet Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—Poet Robert Frost came back Sunday from a trip to the Soviet Union and impulsively told about a secret and a few surprises.

The secret, the 88-year-old poet said, was a message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to President Kennedy.

Asked to disclose the message, he wagged a finger at newsmen and replied: "Oh, no, that's up to the President. I couldn't do that."

As for planning to meet with the President, Frost answered: "I don't plan; I wait for the President."

The white-haired poet then disclosed that Khrushchev believed the United States would not fight.

"Khrushchev said he feared for us modern liberals," Frost declared. "He said we were too liberal to fight. I suppose that he thought we'd stand there for the next hundred years saying, 'On the one hand—but on the other hand.'"

Frost spent 10 days touring the Soviet Union, during which he read poetry and met with many Russian leaders.

"I had a great time," he said. "I went over there with preconceptions to confirm or correct, and I didn't have to correct many."

He noted that "the Russians give you the feeling that we have surrounded them with hostility and with camps and things like that. And that's too bad."

Frost said he told the Russians they were relaxing a bit and "humanizing a little down from the severity of their ideals—easing off toward democracy."

"And they let me get away with it," he said.

Study Says U. S. Could End Arms Race and Not Be Hit by Depression

Peace Might Bring Economic Changes Great as End of War

RY JAMES M. HASWELL
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Could the United States afford to put an end to the cold war, and disarm? Would this bring on a depression? Engulf the western world in a breakdown like that of the 30s?

The U.S. Disarmament Agency says "yes," the United States could stop spending $50 billion a year on arms, and "no," this wouldn't cause an economic calamity.

But peace might bring economic changes as great as those at the end of World War II.

Communist Claim

It is standard Communist talk that Americans keep up international tensions because they have to. They don't dare disarm for fear that their capitalism will collapse. Many people in other lands around the world believe this.

In England and elsewhere a unilateral disarmament movement is growing. It already has forced the United Kingdom to ban Thor and Jupiter missiles.

Attempts at Geneva to reach an East-West understanding about nuclear testing are having hard sledding. Part of the difficulty is disbelief that the other fellow dares to disarm.

No Thorough Survey

A year ago the United Nations set up a committee to take a hard look at the economic consequences of disarmament.

inal states will be here next Monday for ceremonies marking the 175th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

U. S. Matches Promises With Russian Deeds in Space Race to Moon

America's Lag Is Expected to be Overcome Within Next 10 Years

BY BEN PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The history of the space race is essentially an account of spectacular Soviet accomplishments and many lesser U.S. scientific achievements accompanied by glittering promises.

These promises of great things to come often have gone hand-in-hand with explanations of why the United States lags behind the Soviet Union.

That the United States is second in the space race was freely admitted by President Kennedy at his Aug. 22 news conference.

Kennedy also expressed belief that before the present decade elapses this country will have overtaken and surpassed the Soviets.

Dual Orbit

On Aug. 11 the Soviets launched Maj. Andrian G. Nikolayev on a 65-hour orbit around the earth. This was followed in 24 hours by the launching of Lt. Col. Pavel R. Popovich on a 71-hour space ride.

The Soviet feat was made possible by the use of boosters with more than twice the thrust capacity of those in operational use by the United States.

The United States clearly is now in no position to duplicate the flights of the two Soviet officers — and won't be for some time.

So, in view of President Kennedy's statement, the question is whether the United States really can catch up with the Soviet Union in this decade.

Why Our Lag?

A secondary question is "Why is the nation behind?"

While there is a vast distance between possibility and probability, the fact remains that it is possible for the United States to catch up. The space race is much more than a matter of which nation currently has the larger boosters.

The acceleration of the U.S. man-in-space program, which only began in a definitive fashion in the spring of 1958, has been extraordinary despite others who say that much more could be done.

This speed up has been accompanied by the equally swift growth of a huge bureaucracy scattered from one end of the nation to the other.

Paper Danger

So there may be danger that the impetus gained over the past 4½ years may become bogged down amid mountains of paper.

At the outset the U.S. space program was not a planned thing. It "just grew," like Topsy, often under the pressure of Soviet achievements but with no real sense of urgency, firm timetable or budget.

When the Soviet Union launched Sputnik I in October 1957, the initial reaction from the White House as relayed by James C. Hagerty, former press secretary to ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was one of interest but no particular concern.

Not A Race

Asked what the Soviet achievement would do to the U.S. program Hagerty replied, "Not a thing." He said the United States has "never thought of our program as one which was in a race with the Soviets."

Charles E. Wilson, then defense secretary, called Sputnik "a nice scientific trick."

The first time the United States officially admitted a race was under way in which the nation's industrial and scientific prestige was involved came in 1961 at Kennedy's inauguration.

Moon Shoot

Thereafter the nation had a specific goal: a landing on the moon before the end of the 1960s.

Earlier, Eisenhower had removed the program from the primary control of the military and gave it to a new civilian agency.

The key to the space race, then and now is a big booster.

Until 1958 the military alone had the monetary resources and manpower to develop boosters, albeit they wasted considerable time, money and talent in inter-service competition, according to critics.

In 1958 the military were simply not interested in boosters larger than those needed to deliver a warhead from the United States to a target in the Soviet Union — and still aren't to any great extent.

Von Braun

Wernher von Braun, German-born rocket expert and director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., is the one man, more than any other, charged with matching the Soviet Union in the field of big boosters.

Von Braun was asked by The Associated Press why he thought the United States had a chance to reach the moon ahead of the Russians.

He said: "This twin orbit demonstration is not proof that they are near their obvious goal of manned lunar landings."

"It will require space vehicles much larger than those now in use by the USSR to land people on the moon and bring them safely back to earth."

"We have reason to believe that the vehicles used by the Russians have a first stage thrust of 800,000 to one million pounds. We do not think the USSR has launched rockets, even on an experimental basis, with thrust greater than this."

Bigger Boost

"The Russians have an active booster program so it is likely they are working on rockets bigger than the ones they now use."

"So is this country. We have already launched two Saturn C-1s with first-stage thrust of 13 million pounds in a program leading to operational use of a C-1 having a 1.5 million pounds in late 1964. We are working on the Saturn C-5 with 7.5 million pounds of thrust in the first stage. It should be fired in 1965 and become operational in 1967."

The Republican Choices for Governor

For the first time in a decade, there is a meaningful competition in the Tuesday primary elections for the Republican nomination for governor. There are three candidates listed on the ballot, Philip Kuehn of Whitefish Bay, Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie, and Robert LaFollette Sucher of Madison. Mr. Sucher's candidacy, in the universal estimate of politicians and professional political reporters, has only a nuisance value. The few votes he is likely to get by trading on the name of his maternal grandfather will be subtracted from the totals of the serious candidates.

Mr. Kuehn and Mr. Renk have had a vigorous, healthy and on the whole an orthodox contest during many past months. There has developed little in the way of ideological issues between them. Mr. Renk has carried the attack on Mr. Kuehn, while Mr. Kuehn has devoted his discussions to his own proposals and challenges of Democratic dogma and record without personal references to his primary election opponent. Mr. Renk's theme in his quarrel with his rival has been condemnation of something that Mr. Kuehn has and he hasn't, namely the support, certified in a lively convention ballot in Milwaukee last spring, of the voluntary organization of local Republican campaign workers.

We know many Republicans of thoughtful bent who disagree on the wisdom or the necessity of having the party organization involve itself in the nomination of candidates in this traditionally "open" primary state.

A good case can be made for the repeal or modification of the rule, by those who find it offensive to the principle of popular nominations. An equally and perhaps more forceful argument can be advanced, we believe, for party organizations as useful instruments for the recruitment of good candidates and as channels for the conduct of debate and the dissemination of electoral information.

The Laos Guarantee

Laos, supposedly guaranteed in its independent neutrality and sovereignty by the agreement signed several weeks ago by a number of nations including a befuddled United States, already is having a little trouble with identification. It's hard to tell a Communist Laotian from a neutralist when the uniforms are taken off.

The new coalition government is headquartered in Vientiane and all three representatives require the protection of soldiers of their own faith. Soviet planes ferry Communist and neutralist soldiers and their families around but there is a growing suspicion among the right-

Politicians and Families

President Kennedy has shown an adeptness in practical politics that is vindicated by his altogether remarkable record of personal political triumph, but we find ourselves wondering sometimes whether he is not building difficulties for himself in such episodes as his young brother's candidacy for his old senate seat in the state of Massachusetts.

Periodicals of all shades of opinion have reported, with a startling unanimity, that the nomination of young Ted in the Massachusetts state Democratic convention was not wholly voluntary. The awareness of the fact that big brother occupies the White House, that the White House controls patronage, and that patronage is one of the sweetest concomitants of Democratic organization politics permeated the hall and left very little doubt about the result even before the roll call was begun.

The President in this instance, with a background of other relatives in high places in his administration, is handing his opponents in the next election one of the most simply apprehended and useful weapons that could be devised. Massachusetts is a considerable distance removed from the Main streets of Wisconsin, but we may suppose that there are some contrasts with our own system of political practice that have occurred to Wisconsin voters.

Suppose that Gaylord Nelson, when he became the head of our state government three years ago, had tried to find public

Notwithstanding, it strikes us that Mr. Renk is not the most graceful critic to make the case against party endorsement. In the first instance, he has been renouncing for a year something that he knew all along he couldn't have — given the fact that Mr. Kuehn's strong bid for the governorship in 1960 made him a favorite among many party delegates for another turn at bat this year. Moreover, Mr. Renk who describes himself as an active partisan of long-standing, had a chance under the party's own rules to move for the amendment or repeal of the endorsement rule at the Republican convention of 1961. No such move was made. Nor was he always such a meticulous devotee of the idea of popular mandates in nominations. In 1952 the primary election voters of Wisconsin expressed a clear preference for the late Sen. Taft as a presidential candidate. Mr. Renk nevertheless worked for the nomination of Gen. Eisenhower, quite without regard for the wishes of his neighbors as certified on the election record. One of Mr. Renk's great friends during the last decade was Walter Kohler Jr., a product of Republican convention endorsement.

It is conceivable, of course, that Mr. Renk didn't like the idea of convention endorsement of Mr. Kohler, but he was silent about it if he didn't, and he didn't hesitate when he was offered one of the fruits of Mr. Kohler's subsequent victory in the form of a seat on the University of Wisconsin board of regents. Indeed, Mr. Renk has pointed to his service to the University as his prime qualification for the office of governor.

The endorsement question which Mr. Renk has labored so mightily is a sideshow in the main event on Tuesday, which ought to be the selection by the voters of a Republican candidate for the high and responsible office of governor on the basis of programs, experience, and attitudes on the great issues of the day.

wingers that no soldiers are being removed. They come back without their uniforms but presumably have their weapons — and their ideologies.

"We've lost track of the troops here," said one discouraged right-wing officer. For some reason there is a little doubt that the Reds actually will stick to their word and remove all foreign troops as outlined in the agreement. If they don't, of course, there is no ultimate authority to whom to turn.

Playing poker with a stacked deck or roulette when the wheel is fixed is a poor way to win money, freedom, peace, or justice.

employment for the members of his family, several of whom were as active in his own campaign as were the President's relatives in the 1960 presidential canvass.

Let us imagine that he had put his sister, who is an active politician, in charge of one of the major state capitol administrative departments, and a brother-in-law in charge of the University Extension department, another brother-in-law in a prestigious and comfortable place as a consultant on economic development, and then persuaded a young brother to take over his old state senate seat in Dane County with the implied backing of the considerable power of a Democratic state administration?

That would be roughly comparable to the employment in high places of members of the Kennedy family since the inauguration of the President.

What would have been the reaction of the Wisconsin electorate? What would have been the response of the Democratic party, in spite of the fact that the governor is its titular leader as the President is the leader of the national party organization? We need not labor the point. Reaction would have been dangerously antagonistic.

Young Mr. Ted Kennedy is a handsome and charming young man, and he may also be an able young fellow, for all we know. But at the age of 30, we suggest, he could find something more profitable and satisfying than riding his brother's coat-tails into a congressional seat.

Lack of Master Plan Can Hinder Airport

From The Madison State Journal

Madison's municipal airport is carrying more traffic now than Mitchell Field, Milwaukee's biggest airport.

The Madison port had a traffic count of 14,008, as compared with 13,364 for Gen. Mitchell field for June.

This will come as no surprise to those who have been following the phenomenal growth of air business here.

Since 1960, for instance, the number of commercial planes has increased by 47 per cent — and passenger numbers by 365 per cent.

The military operation has increased 95 per cent; private plane operation, 394 per cent.

Air mail is up 375 per cent. Air express is up 335 per cent. Air freight is up 482 per cent.

Madison can be gratified that the City Council and the mayor are beginning to pay more attention to the airport, after four years of stalling by the previous city administration.

The council under Mayor Henry Reynolds has voted $15,000 for a new master plan for the port. Preliminary work has been done in time to qualify the city for inclusion in the state's airport plan. Had this not been done, presumably the city would have lost state and federal aids for the next six years.

Not having a master plan has already cost the city hard cash, and it will cost more.

The city last year paid all of a $31,000 bill for paving an apron. Had we had a master plan, three fourths of the cost would have been paid by federal and state funds.

The loss: $23,000 for lack of a $15,000 master plan.

Later this year, the city will pay the total bill of some $40,000 for more beefing up of taxiways.

The loss: $30,000 for lack of a $15,000 master plan.

Loss on the two projects for lack of a $15,000 master plan: $53,250.

The new master plan will have a recommendation for changing the flight patterns so that jet traffic, with its higher noise lev-

Soviet - East Germany Treaty Might Have Some Advantages

From St. Louis Post Dispatch

The evident failure of the latest Berlin talks in Geneva to approach agreement underlines the possibility that, as some Western observers expect, Premier Khrushchev will sign a separate treaty with Eastern Germany before long. What then?

It has always been within Khrushchev's power to sign such a treaty, and if he chooses to do so now that act in itself will not change the fundamentals of the situation. Even if an East-West agreement on Berlin had been achieved, Khrushchev undoubtedly would have signed a treaty thereafter. The crucial point is not the treaty, but what Khrushchev will do after a treaty to prevent the East Germans from interfering with access to West Berlin.

He could permit a campaign of harassment which presented the West with a constant danger of conflict or war. Theoretically, the East Germans would be on their own. They would not need to resort to anything so clumsy as a blockade. What would happen, for example, if they simply closed a bridge for "repairs," and then another, and another? The West might find it easy to justify sending a tank column through to break a military blockade, but to use els, will be routed away from the city.

It will recommend a better terminal, newly located.

It will propose a means of separating Highway 51 traffic from the air approaches to Truxax. Four people, it will be remembered, were killed when an incoming plane smashed their car into a ditch.

The big planes today can't use the parking apron at the field, designed originally for loads of 30,000 pounds and beelied up some since then. A 247,000-pound Boeing 720 that couldn't use this apron last Friday underscored that deficiency.

Four years have been lost so far due to the opposition of the Nestingen administration to airport master-planning and to improvements which the field's heavy use merits.

Progress under the Reynolds administration is encouraging. The improvement program, now that it's under way, should be carried out.

force against hit-and-run tactics of harassment is not so simple.

That is why some sort of live-and-let-live agreement on West Berlin would have so many advantages for the West. It would enable us to hold the Russians directly responsible for bringing about East German respect for our rights of access. Those rights would then rest, not on our sheer power to enforce them, but on an agreement to which the East Germans would be a party, and which they could not break without abrogating also those which were advantageous to them. This would be a firmer base for the Western position than the one that now exists.

2,500 Matches, 40 Glue Bottles, Plus Time Produce Guitar

IDABEL, Okla. (AP) — Take 2,500 kitchen matches, 40 bottles of glue — and a lot of time — and you have a guitar.

At least, Lonnie Duke found that formula worked for him. Lonnie glued the wooden match sticks — with the heads cut off — into big sheets. He used 10 boxes of matches and countless hours.

He cut the front and back of the instrument from the sheets, then formed the edges of the instrument with more match sticks.

"They kept falling out," he says. "But I just stood them on ends, glued them again and finally they stayed in place."

Why does one make a match-stuck guitar?

Because, says Lonnie, he read that some people in Dallas had tried and failed. "I thought I could do it," he says.

Western Powers May Have Ghost City Yet

From The Lexington (Ky.) Herald

A permanently divided Germany would make the position of the Western powers in West Berlin still more trying. Over the years, West Berlin's industries, depending upon West Germany for capital, raw materials and marketing, could face a slow attrition because of their location inside Communist territory.

In the end, the Western powers could find themselves occupying a ghost city rather than a show-place inside the Iron Curtain.

Conversation Recalled In a Neighborhood Bar

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The man was very sure as he gave his opinion.

"I don't trust the politicians," he announced. "I never knew one who wasn't thinking about his own welfare first, all the while pretending to be concerned about the public welfare."

He was not the kind of man it was easy to dismiss. His job, his education, his associations, all marked him as a citizen of more than ordinary attainments. Nor was he a callow youth. The silver in his hair suggested that he had seen perhaps 15 elections for governor, county board supervisor, state senator, congressman and the rest.

These several characteristics necessarily gave pause to his companion at the luncheon table. Such ignorant cynicisms are common enough in the neighborhood bar: What response to make when they are uttered by a man who has a responsible place in his community, who has had the benefit of what the ordinary man would regard as a good education, and who in fact has had more opportunity for political experience than the average resident of Wisconsin is likely to get in his life-time?

THE TRY

The simplest reply, it may be supposed, is to remind that if the citizen of such attainments despairs of the representative government system, then the country is in a bad way.

Then the ideals by which the country has lived for nearly 200 years are useless, and the competition of the nation against the marching and ugly foreign ideologies is quite useless. If it makes no difference to this upper classman, by all the usual definitions, in the Wisconsin political community who holds the offices it may be that it makes no difference whether a communist or a fascist system takes over.

What difference does it make, he demanded, who becomes governor, or congressman, or assemblyman? They're all alike, he insisted, bitterly.

Is it worth the effort to explain that it makes more difference than almost anything the citizen can control in his own life? The quality and the conscience and the abilities of the men elected to public office in Wisconsin involve such matters as education of his children, the safety of himself and his wife against the threats of disease and other hazards, the conditions of his professional practice or of his labor, the security of his parents, and to a considerable degree, his own economic prosperity?

But they're a bunch of huns, and their foremost concern is feathering their own nests, he insisted. There isn't enough difference to make the effort of distinguishing worth while, he grumbled on.

HUMANITY

Agreed, for the sake of argument. These are not uniformly saints. Some of them are decidedly tarnished, and the purist might find some of them resembling sinners. But the constitution and the fathers didn't guarantee perfection, the perfect man in every public place.

Human nature is fallible. The genius of the system is its invitation — or obligation — to choose the least fallible.

Some one asked youthful John F. Kennedy, when he was preparing to run for the highest office in the world, if he didn't think the idea presumptuous. His answer ought to be remembered by every citizen and every apprentice politician. Some human being is going to hold the office, he replied.

Sometimes the citizen who relies too heavily upon book learning in his civic preparation is excessively idealistic. He forgets that great men have warts too. The democratic system in its leadership refreshes itself from the rank and file, from the reservoir of men with all the frailties this despairing critic exhibits in his own person. The men chosen are representative men, without the crutch of the royalist superstitions of old. As somebody so aptly put it, they get up and put on their pants one leg at a time. Anything else would be cause for worry.

Nice Theory — Even if It Doesn't Work

From The Daily Oklahoman

Advocates of red ink financing say the government ought to incur deficits deliberately whenever the economy needs to be "stimulated." In this way they say the government puts more money into the economy than it takes out through taxes, thus providing a needed shot in the arm for business.

But if there's anything to this theory how does it happen that business isn't already higher than a kite? The deficit for the 1962 fiscal year that ended June 30 was $6.3 billion, the second highest in peacetime history. What more would it take to "stimulate" business? If deficits were the invariable answer?

Poster Image Doesn't Register With Clerk

MEMPHIS (AP) — A political candidate with headquarters in a hotel found himself short of cash, so, standing beneath the huge photographs that display his likeness all over the lobby, he asked a clerk if he could cash a check.

"Why yes," said the clerk, examining his signature. "Do you have any identification?"

Early Papers Minced No Words

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 13, 1862.

A packed mob, miscalled a convention, met at Oshkosh the 4th instant, and insulted the Fifth Congressional District by nominating a brainless nuisance — a mere bag of senseless wind — for Congress. Ye gods, "how the mighty have fallen!"

By the nomination of Brown, the Republican Party virtually admits its degraded and demoralized condition. It makes the pronouncement that honest worth, intellectual ability and conservatism are at a discount and must give place to political harlotry, bigoted fanaticism and squash-headed talents.

When a party or the representatives of a party thrust aside their veteran champions — the men who have fostered that organization from its infancy — to give place to muddy-headed lilliputians, is it not time for even political opponents to condemn the outrageous ingratitude?

In these thoughts we refer to the action of the late Republican convention at Oshkosh in its casting aside such men as A. B. Jackson, Judge Cotton, George H. Myers, and others, and nominating a pigmy. Politically we have no affiliation with these last named gentlemen, but we do say we protest against our district being misrepresented by such a calf as Brown — a second edition of A. S. Sloan, only more so — when better men can be found.

If Republicans are to represent us, give us the best men; if Democrats, the same doctrine is applicable.

Atherosclerosis Can Only be Prevented

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have atherosclerosis. Please tell me if there is a special diet for this.

Everybody who reads this column knows that steady exercise, swimming sooner or later will have throughout life has its effect on atherosclerosis, just as everybody keeping the arteries in better condition will lose the limberness of youth.
The two things we can control, diet and exercise, have little if any effect in correcting atherosclerosis after it has developed. They are preventives, not cures. I don't mean radical or rigid diet. I don't mean violent exercise. If people would get in things, such as age, heredity, the habit, as young adults, of and exercise. Dr. Paul Dunley doing an hour's brisk walking, White doesn't ride his bicycle, or the equivalent, every day, and talk about it, just for fun, that would be sufficient. Some

Simple Eating
For diet, nothing tricky. Just a balanced one that keeps your weight steady and normal. That in itself probably is sufficient, since it will automatically keep your intake of fat at a suitable level. But some deliberate restriction of animal fat and the substitution of vegetable or fish oils may be wise. On this side of the Atlantic we have a tendency to eat quite a lot of fat because it is plentiful.
As for the ballyhooed "health foods," I don't see any evidence to indicate that they are better than a perfectly normal, balanced diet. They are fads, extravagantly urged by salesmen and promoters.
As to what "effect atherosclerosis has on the arteries," essentially it simply means accumulation of fatty material on and in the lining of the arteries. This both stiffens or "hardens" them, and gradually makes the inner diameter smaller, leaving less space to carry blood, just as lime or rust deposits in water pipes cut down the flow.
Slowed Circulation
There is, therefore a general decrease in the efficiency of circulation, sometimes to a degree that blood pressure increases significantly, as Nature tries to overcome the partially clogged arteries. There is in addition an increased risk of clots blocking an artery somewhere, either in the heart muscle (a heart attack) or in the brain (a stroke).
The answer to atherosclerosis is in prevention, and the earlier we start the better.
Motion Sickness
Dear Dr. Molner: Will Vitamin A help prevent motion sickness? —Mrs. W. H.
Not to my knowledge. But there are several moderately new drugs (dramamine, bonamine, etc.) which have given excellent results.
Toddler Has Cataract
Dear Dr. Molner: If a two-year-old child has a cataract in one eye, about the size of a paper match head, not inflamed and hardly noticeable, would you advise letting it alone to see if it will go away? Or should it be removed now? —E. G.
I would not expect it to "go away." Cataracts don't. I would leave it entirely up to the eye specialist to decide whether it should be removed now or later.

Army Has Fewer Men, but Firepower Is Far Greater

Gen. Taylor Plans No Sweeping Changes in New Military Role

BY ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today has fewer men but far more firepower—conventional as well as nuclear—than when Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor stalked out of the high command in 1959 in protest against defense policy.

The former Army chief of staff, preparing to return to the Pentagon Oct. 1 in the top post of chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is making a personal survey of U.S. military forces deployed in the Far East.

What he observes on this and on any other inspection overseas in the next few months probably will have influence in preparation of the 1964 budget.

No Radical Revisions

However, Taylor said after his appointment by President Kennedy that he intended no radical revision in military organizations, but wanted to make the "present system as effective as possible."

Taylor retired from active duty after a losing campaign within the Joint Chiefs of Staff for greater stress on a force capable of "flexible response" to various types of attack. He deplored the emphasis which he said then was being given to the policy of massive retaliation with nuclear weapons.

In his book "The Uncertain Trumpet," written after he doffed uniform, Taylor said, among other things: The Defense Department believed that atomic weapons reduced the need for manpower and that personnel cuts therefore could be made safely. This was fallacy when applied to the Army, he said. The complexity of those weapons, the requirement for dispersion of forces on the battlefield and the possibility of heavy manpower losses in action would point to a need for more, not fewer men, he contended.

Policy Change

Available statistics at the Pentagon show these comparisons between 1957—the midpoint in Taylor's tenure as Army chief of staff, when he was beginning his battle for a policy change—and now.

Army strength at the end of 1957 was about 997,000 men, with 16 divisions. Army manpower today is about 952,000, with 16 divisions. On the other hand, the Defense Department says the proportion of combat-ready divisions is higher now.

In answer to questions, the Army today made available figures showing a general comparison in firepower capability for an Army infantry division now in comparison with 1957. It is measured by the number of weapons for delivering firepower within the division.

Small Arms

In the small arms category (rifles, machine guns, sidearms) the increase amounts to about 30 per cent, for mortars about 14 per cent. Conventional artillery has increased about 30 per cent.

Antitank weapons numbers have changed with changed technology: The World War II bazooka is being displaced by the recoilless rifle and missiles. There were no antitank missiles in the infantry division five years ago, but an average division now is equipped with 72 guided missile weapons for antitank use.

The greatest increase, both in numbers of weapons for delivery and in the potential explosive yield, is in tactical nuclear weapons for the division. The over-all increase for delivery equipment is at least 70 per cent. The increase in actual firepower is measurable in factors of hundreds or thousands.

Missile Units

The infantry division has four 8-inch howitzers, able to fire atomic as well as conventional shells (the same as five years ago), but also has four instead of two Honest John atomic missile units. And divisions are beginning to receive a planned 30 Davy Crockett atomic missile units, per division, where none existed in 1957.

The step-up in the Army's firepower capability during the past five years is not all attributable either to Taylor's campaign or to the Kennedy administration's emphasis on limited war preparedness, as well as continued expansion of nuclear weapon systems.

A beginning of the build-up in both weapons and manpower came as the result of the Korean War. The Army, in early 1950, had reached a low point in unit strength, with 10 divisions. Lessons learned on Korean battlefields, in such things as antitank warfare and mortars, impelled technical improvements in weapons which carried on into the postwar period.

Official visit. He told newsmen he would have general talks with Norwegian government officials on all NATO problems, and went on to say the question of Cuba "probably would be raised."

The United States is reported to have sent memoranda to its NATO allies, Britain, Greece, Italy and Norway, to clamp down on the charter of their merchant ships to carry Soviet military equipment to Cuba.

Thorp Finance Declares Stock Dividend

THORP—Directors of Thorp Finance Corp. have declared a dividend on common stock of 6 cents per share payable Sept. 20 to stockholders of record Sept. 12.

In making the announcement, Francis J. Conway, president, said, "net income in the first eight months of the current fiscal year has increased nearly $100,000 to $671,390 or 19.8 per cent as compared with the same period a year ago. We are continuing our expansion program by opening the company's 73rd office in Wisconsin Oct. 1 at Berlin."

Why Risk Costly Furnace Failure? Protect Yourself This Easy Way:

Get Your FREE $5⁰⁰ Furnace Oil Service Bond Now:

Don't let a clogged-up fuel line, filter or burner nozzle cause your oil furnace to fail suddenly this winter.

Before November 30, 1962, have your tank filled with Skelly Furnace Oil with Anti-Clog SK-12 for use in your Central Heating System. When you do, your Skelly Furnace Oil Dealer will give you, absolutely free, a Furnace Oil Service Bond worth $5.00 on your first service call this winter (if you should have one).

Then, if fuel stoppage should occur due to a clogged fuel line, filter or burner nozzle anytime during the guarantee period (up to May 1, 1963) just call any reputable furnace company for service. Have the furnace man sign your bond and send it, along with your service call receipt, to Skelly Furnace Oil Bond Program, P. O. Box 436, Kansas City, Missouri. Skelly will immediately mail you a check for $5.00.

Prove to yourself that no other furnace oil can burn cleaner or give you better protection against clogging—and get bonded protection at no extra cost. Call your Skelly Furnace Oil Dealer today.

Ask Your Skelly Furnace Oil Dealer About The Skelly Budget Plan

End big winter fuel bills. Spread the cost over a full 12 months. Ask your Skelly Furnace Oil Dealer, also, about his "keep-fill" plan that saves time, trouble, and guards against condensation.

Skelly can make this amazing offer because Skelly Furnace Oil with SK-12 protects fuel tanks, keeps fuel lines, filters and nozzles clean and rust free.

EVERY YOUNG MOTHER SHOULD OWN LIFE INSURANCE

(FOR ONE OR MORE SMALL REASONS)

Nowadays the breadwinner in almost every family is protected by some form of life insurance. But fate is unpredictable, and many a well-insured man has suddenly found himself a widower with small children and a large problem: how to care for them while he continues to earn a living.

To ease this burden, New York Life offers Wife Insurance—that is, insurance written on the life of the mother. If she dies, her husband immediately has funds to provide proper care for the children. If she lives, the cash value in her policy can be used for such worthwhile purposes as helping finance the children's education or the couple's own retirement dreams.

FREE RECORD! Your New York Life Agent will be glad to tell you more about this valuable protection. In addition, he will give you a copy of "What Is A Wife?"—a special three-minute recording every married couple should hear. Give him a call this week! Or, for your free record, fill out and mail the coupon at the right.

Pre-Election Crises
Becoming Usual Thing

Situation This Fall Involves U2 Planes, Berlin Wall, Cuba

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American elections are getting to be a jinx. For years some big distraction has bobbed up before election day. It's happening once more.
This time it's over U2 spy planes, Berlin, and Cuba. Communists have contributed handsomely to the distraction over the years. So have the United States and its allies by amazingly clumsy performances.
Everything looked quiet less than a month ago. Trouble began Aug. 17 with the shooting of a refugee at the Berlin wall by East Berlin guards. West Berliners reacted violently. East-West relations got even more sticky.
This is bound to get an airing at the U.N. meeting which starts Sept. 18. So, too, most likely will Cuba and the U2s.
On Aug. 19 the United States sent three U2s—they're called reconnaissance planes now—to Britain for "high altitude sampling" programs over the North Atlantic. Skeptical Russians said the U2s should be kept "far away from us."
Lot of Yardage
They got a lot of yardage out of the last U2 they tangled with. That was on May 1, 1960, when they shot down Francis Gary Powers in a U2 about 1,300 miles inside Russia.
In that unforgettable mish-mash the State Department lied, said the plane hadn't been spying, then admitted the truth and said President Eisenhower had authorized spy flights.

Monday, Sept. 10, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A8
All this happened just a few days before his summit meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Paris. Khrushchev broke it up. On May 16, 1960, Eisenhower said there would be no more spy flights over Russia. On Jan. 25, 1961, shortly after President Kennedy took office, he said the same thing.
Still in Business
The U2s have been in business since around the world. It makes no sense to think they haven't been used for spying from high altitudes.
Then on Sept. 2 Russia did something to embarrass the United States. This country has been busy trying to stiff-arm communism in all the far places of the earth.
On Sept. 2 Russia and Cuba issued a joint statement acknowledging publicly what already was known: that Russia is arming Cuba, right in America's backyard and sending in military technicians to train the Cubans.
Some senators, perhaps without thinking of possible consequences, called on Kennedy to invade Cuba or at least do something. In this election year Kennedy inaction might give Republicans a handy issue.
On Sept. 4 he warned the Russians and Cubans not to get ram-bunctious. But that's about all he said. Then he asked Congress for power to call up 150,000 reservists if needed. Why he might need them, what he'd do with them, or whether he'd actually call them isn't clear. Nor did he make it clear.
But something else happened on Sept. 4. The Russians complained an American U2 plane had flown over Soviet territory in Sakhalin Island, just north of Japan, the far side of the world from England.
May Have Happened
The United States hastily admitted this might have happened but denied it was intentional and explained the pilot might have been blown off course.
Then Sunday the Red Chinese announced they had brought down a U2 over their territory. The Nationalist Chinese on Formosa said the plane was theirs, and that they had bought it from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in the United States.

Republican ELECT
Sgt. George E. Else
for Sheriff

Fellow Citizen:
As I am hoping to round off my years as a law enforcement officer for Outagamie County as your Sheriff, I want you—the taxpayer—to know I will do my best to hold the cost down in the Sheriffs office. Not to the extent that I will be giving poor service or as in some cases we note in the past, none at all. I think a sheriff must first be a good citizen with other people's welfare in mind. Secondly, he should be a family man so that he can understand other people's problems. He should also, be a home owner, so that he will be tax-conscious and interested in the affairs of the city and county.
A sheriff should also be a trained police officer and be able to act as a leader, so that he can be respected by his fellow officers.
When you go to vote Tuesday, September 11th, I respectfully solicit your vote and consider it a distinct honor to serve you, the people of Outagamie County.

Very truly yours,
Sgt. George E. Else

Israeli Officials
Discuss Argentine Anti-Semitism

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON — Israeli government leaders have discussed with high American officials the rash of anti-semitic incidents in Argentina.
On at least one recent occasion, it was learned, the matter was mentioned by Premier David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Meir.
The subject was brought up by Ben-Gurion and Mrs. Meir during a discussion of Israel's over-all immigration problem. They said Israel may soon be offering a haven to Argentine Jews if the upsurge in anti-semitism in that country is not arrested.
Argentina, long suspected as a haven for Nazis who fled Germany at the close of World War II, also has one of the largest Jewish populations in the world — over 400,000.

Four Injured at Accident on U. S. 41
Overhead Saturday

OSHKOSH — Four occupants of a car driven by Robert J. Voecks, 19, 826 E. South St., Appleton, were injured in an accident on the State 26 overhead over U.S. 41 southwest of Oshkosh Saturday.

Voecks' car and one driven by James W. Turner, 28, Crandon, collided when Voecks made a left turn onto a ramp leading to 41. Voecks received a forehead and scalp laceration, Richard J. Kirkline, 19, Rochester, Minn., received scalp cuts, Carl L. Walker, 19, Webster Grove, Mo., had forehead cuts and head and neck injuries, and Richard C. McAvoy, 18, Toledo, Ohio, a broken tooth and head bumps.

The four were taken to Mercy Hospital in Oshkosh in the Moore ambulance. Walker was to receive X-rays to learn if there were other injuries. Turner complained of a sore back but was not held at the hospital.

Divorces Granted To Menasha, Neenah Couples

OSHKOSH — Divorces were granted to one Neenah and one Menasha couple Friday by County Judge Herbert J. Mueller.

Nona A. Capelle, 25, Neenah, was granted a divorce from Alfred Capelle, 27, Neenah. Custody of the couple's five children was granted the mother and he was ordered to pay $8 a week alimony and $28 a week support.

Ski Sweaters Set Casual Mood for Fall Activities

Three cheers for the skiers! They were the ones who demanded lightweight, bright-colored pullover sweaters that would keep the wearer warm in cold weather and could be just as comfortable indoors around a crackling fire and during quiet evenings of relaxation.

Football fans, active teens, campus queens and busy housewives quickly discovered how adaptable the ski sweater style was to their lives.

Sweater designers answer the cry this year with an amazing collection of sweaters for work and play. Lightweight for comfort, knit for warmth, hand-screened to create intricate patterns, the plain pullover ski sweater has taken a giant step into fashion.

Brilliant Sweaters Herald the fall and winter season this year. Above, is an imaginative, scalloped bottom, "Harlequin with Roses" overblouse of all wool knit jersey. Hand silk-screened roses on white panels alternate with panels of black under a loose-knit, bulky cowl collar. The bulky, handknit Italian import, at right, gives a salt and pepper effect with mixed yarn. The long look is ideal with stretch or knit pants. The apres-ski version of a hand-knit sweater, below, is in bright knit jersey. The Norwegian-inspired embroidered pattern encircles the sweater and runs down the inside of the sleeves. The cowl collar can be raised or lowered.

Ski Lodge or city skyscrapers, whatever the setting, these sweaters will look equally smart. Above, the hand screen-printed multi-bayadere pattern adds new excitement to this knit pullover. Crowned with a white knit shawl collar, the sweater makes a smart overblouse for slim skirts. The all wool knit jersey, below, has brilliant hand-screened flowers around the bottom of the sweater. A full knit V-neck, portrait cowl collar is designed to drape comfortably in almost any position. It is weighted by a novelty fringed window-shade tassel pull.

Your Problems

Readers From Florida to Montreal Spot Lost Airdale

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: Between you and me and the dog catcher I am astonished at the number of unclaimed Airedales roaming the United States and Canada.

Remember the letter about King Tut? He was the poor mutt whose master dropped him off on a Ann Landers country road to "test his homing instinct." It was the wife of the brainless experimenter who wrote. She signed her letter "Married To A Moron."

Since that letter appeared in print I have been deluged with letters from readers who have picked up stray Airedales.

E. M. (City Desk, Miami Herald) wrote "Mrs. B. has found King Tut and would like to know what to do with him. Please advise."

Mrs. F. S. of the Richmond Times-Leader in Richmond, Virginia informed me that a local policeman has the King in tow and is awaiting my instructions.

Mrs. R. M. of San Jose, California who picked up an Airedale on a country road wrote: "My husband and I tried out several names just to make sure. We called him 'Rover,' 'Pal' and 'Prince' and nothing happened. But the minute I said 'King Tut' his ears picked up and he wagged his tail."

A "Landers fan" from Louisville wrote, "I went out to get the Times and here was this big Airedale asleep on the porch. He was thirsty and hungry. I'm sure it must King Tut. Only a hound who had walked 40 miles could look like this one."

Readers in Winnipeg, Calgary, Ottawa and Montreal have found Airedales who answer to "King Tut." In the meantime, the director of the humane society in Toronto wrote to ask that we furnish him with the name of the party who did "this terrible thing."

All who were good enough to write will be happy and relieved, (as I was) to learn that the real King Tut has been found — in Cleveland.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a girl who pretends to be my best friend, yet the minute my back is turned she steals my sweetheart? This has happened to me four times in the last year.

I pretend it doesn't bother me but actually it drives me crazy. It's gotten so I hate to introduce her to anybody anymore. What bugs me is this, Ann: I know I'm Robbed.

Dear Robbed: A boy friend is not a sack of salt that can be slung over a shoulder and carried off.

If you are losing out to your girl friend it may be that you are too possessive, or too demanding. Or perhaps the boys sense you are afraid of competition. This will put the dead hand on any romance.

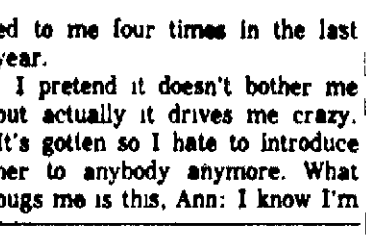

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to give the girl who signed herself "Sandbagged" a little advice. I, too, was "Sandbagged" and here is how my life turned out.

My boy friend was like hers — interested in only one thing. He never took me any place except to a lonely road to park. He said he was "saving his money" so we could be married. Well, we've been married for 20 years and he's still interested in only one thing. And, incidentally, I never did see any of that money he was supposed to be saving.

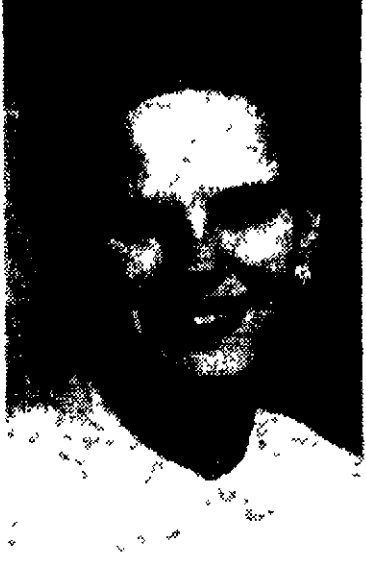

The only vacations I've ever had were when my children were born. I took off two weeks. I've always done the cleaning, marketing, cooking, washing, and ironing and even the yard work.

My knucklehead works an 8-hour shift, comes home and goes to bed for a few hours to rest up for dinner and a night in front of the TV.

I hope all young girls who read this will take heed. If a sweetheart is the selfish, stuck-in-the-mud type, marriage won't work any miracle on him. He'll probably get worse instead of better. — Sandbagged Also.

Sheinwold on Bridge

Dinner Depends on Deft Defense, Flattery Helps

"You owe me a dinner," my just before you came in," Henry cousin Henry said accusingly as said as we ate dinner. "In the he got up from the bridge table old days East would have taken to defend too well."

I was too flattered to deny turned his partner's suit in the charge, so we went to dinner good old days. Even in the old days I ported on the understanding that I'd had really been done in to spades.

would lead the wrong spade," Henry protested "If East leads a low spade I let it ride around to dummy's jack, and now I'm home."

What had gone wrong then? "East led the queen of spades at the second trick," Henry complained. "I won with the king of spades and led diamonds. West took the king of diamonds and led his other spade through dummy's jack. And now East took down two."

Problems So there you have the problem Who paid for dinner? Henry thought East's fine defense had done him in. If so, I had agreed to pay for my cousin's dinner.

Fortunately for me, I was able to prove that Henry had done himself in. When East led the queen of spades, Henry should have played low instead of putting up the king of spades.

This play would not cost Henry a spade trick. He would simply win his spade trick later instead of immediately.

The effect of playing a low spade is to cut communications between East and West. When West gets a trick with the king of diamonds he cannot lead to an established spade suit. South therefore makes his game and rubber.

Teacher's Club Begins Season

The first fall meeting of Omicron Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma took place at 6:15 p.m. Thursday at Alex's Manor House. The organization is a national honor society for women teachers. Executive committee members had charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Berne Crockett, Menasha, reported that over 800 society members were present at a Delta Kappa Gamma breakfast at the NEA Convention held in Denver in July. Reports on the state Convention in Marinette in May were also given.

The evening's program included committee workshops to plan the year's activities and a silent auction of vacation souvenirs.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

LOGICAL RULE BREAKING

My son's fiancée, who has a job in Washington, has asked for my advice and help. She came to this country five years ago from Denmark and her parents who will not be coming for the wedding have agreed to co-operate. The wedding in Washington will be attended by no more than 20. How would the couple do the inviting? The girl's parents have o.k'd engraved announcements which we will order for them and which I will address and mail. My son and his bride will spend their wedding trip in Denmark and other European countries. They will then travel in the United States and will probably live in California, so we can't have an at-home address on the announcements. How will friends and relatives know where they will locate?

Louise Davis Answers:
For the small and informal wedding, I suggest that your son's fiancée write notes to invite friends. Although the bridegroom's parents traditionally don't do the inviting, it would be all right under these circumstances if you write a few invitation notes to your own family and any close friends who are likely to attend. As soon as the young couple have a residence, I suggest that they mail cards announcing their address. However, if either of them has a flare for descriptive writing, a mimeographed letter could be sent instead. The information could include an account of their little wedding, their visit with the bride's family in Denmark, and the trip across the United States, ending with a brief description of their apartment or house and, of course, giving their address.

FVGC Women List Chairmen
Mrs. Kenneth Masaros was named chairman of the women's organization of the Fox Valley Golf Club at the Wednesday evening meeting at the clubhouse. Mrs. Clayton Watson was elected golf events chairman, Mrs. Wayne Hull, secretary, Mrs. Willard Keough, treasurer, Mrs. Francis Heesaker, handicap chairman, and Mrs. Earl Schuler and Mrs. Orr Glandt, house committee chairmen.

Christian Mothers Announce Meeting
A 6 a. m. Tuesday potluck supper will precede the first fall meeting of St. Joseph Parish Christian Mothers Society. The event will take place at the school cafeteria.
A business meeting and social sports wardrobe for lucky larger hour also will be held.

Milwaukee Home of Newlyweds

CECIL — Nuptial vows were exchanged at 11 a.m. Saturday by Miss Elizabeth Borowski and James Grover at St. Martin Church. The Rev. Joseph C. Schaefer performed the double ring ceremony and read the nuptial high mass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Max Borowski, Cecil, and Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Grover, Shawano.

Miss Rose Ann Borowski, Green Bay, attended her sister as maid of honor. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Gerald Kort, Stevens Point, and the bride's cousin, Miss Patricia Wasielewski, Milwaukee, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Herbert Grover, Washington, D.C., a brother of the bridegroom. Clem Borowski, brother of the bride, and Thomas Grover, the bridegroom's brother, served as groomsmen. Ushering duties were shared by Michael Mayerl, Oshkosh, and Dr. Gerald Kort, Stevens Point.

A breakfast was served at the church. A dinner and dance were held at Shalagoo Country Club, Shawano. After a northern Wisconsin honeymoon, the pair will reside in Milwaukee.

The bride, a graduate of Bondel High School, Bondel, and the Gale Institute, Minneapolis, Minn., was employed at the Shawano National Bank. Her husband, a graduate of Shawano High School, Shawano, attended St. Norbert College, DePere. He is attending the Milwaukee School of Engineering.

A Lovelier You

Diet Without Die
A lovely writes: "After a few days of dieting, I get so weak in the knees I have to give up."

Too, you may have a mid-morning glass of skim milk—just in case you might have a sinking spell. If you ever do, though, it would be the spirit and not the flesh that's weak.

Relief Corps Appoints Aides
The Thursday meeting of the Geo. D. Eggleston Woman's Relief Corps was preceded by a noon luncheon at Castle Hall.

Appointed as state department aides were Mrs. Rose Korte, Mrs. Blanche Brinkman, Mrs. Emma Durdell and Mrs. Margaret McLaughlin.

Plans were made for a Sept. 18 breakfast and luncheon for members and guests at the home of Mrs. Sophie Heinritz, 1425 N. Appleton St.

As I must lose weight, please advise me.
For all weak-kneed dieters, this answer: You may get hungry while dieting but, if you follow an approved regimen, you would never starve to the point of weakness. Actually you would be well-fed. For when there is a cut-back in food, the body consumes its own fat. Not a pretty idea, but true!

Those words, approved regimens, are the key to satisfactory weight losses without the side effects of either hunger or fatigue. Always on the approved list is the 1200 calorie diet that includes a variety of foods, with some emphasis on proteins and vitamins. A pattern for one such follows:

Breakfast: fruit juice; one soft-boiled egg and one slice protein toast, spread lightly with apple butter—or one individual serving high-protein cereal with skim milk and non-caloric sweetener; coffee, one teaspoon sugar and skim milk.

Luncheon: beef bouillon; tomato surprise (tomato on bed of lettuce, stuffed with water-packed tuna fish and dieter's mayonnaise); half grapefruit.

Dinner: vegetable juice cocktail; one (three-ounce) slice broiled liver; one large baked onion; and seasoned with mace, no butter; one small hard roll, one pushers, Bermudas — all easy-sew.

Printed Pattern 4871: Women's Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48. Yardages in pattern.

St. Norbert Girl Goes to England For School Year

First Foreign Study Scholarship Sends Miss Dorner to Leeds

WEST DE PERE — Having to learn a new language when going to a foreign country is not at all unusual, but when that country is England, it does sound surprising.

Such is the task that confronts Marjorie Dorner of Luxemburg, Wis. Marjorie is the winner of St. Norbert College's first foreign study scholarship. When given a choice of countries in which to study, she selected England. She left for her 10-month trip last week.

"Since I've been reading up on the matter," Marjorie said, "it looks as if I'm going to have to learn a whole new language."

"New" Language
She went on to explain that, in England, a truck is a "lorry", a bus is a "tram", an elevator a "lift", the hood of a car a "bonnet," and so on.

But such minor points aren't in any way discouraging her outlook on the trip.

"I'm really looking forward to knowing the people," she said. This will be her first extended trip away from home. Previously, her longest journey has been a high school class trip to Washington, D. C. While at St. Norbert for two years, Marjorie commuted daily from her home in rural Luxemburg, some 20 miles from the campus.

Marjorie's scholarship covers all costs for her study in England, over and above what it would cost her to attend St. Norbert.

Chose Leeds
She will be attending the University of Leeds, which is a public university located some 300 miles north of London. How did she select that school?

"I looked over the 'Handbook of Foreign Study,'" she replied. Because she is not a degree-seeking student from that institution, it was not necessary for her to take any entrance examinations. The English major already has her academic program lined up.

She is planning to take courses in Shakespeare, Chaucer, literary criticism, linguistics, and French.

She will attend the University of Leeds for three terms, which is roughly the equivalent of two semesters' work in this country. Her program will extend from Oct. 1 to late next June. Then she will fly back to the United States, marking the first time she has ever flown. She took a ship from Montreal for her trip to England.

Campus Life
Since Marjorie has commuted a considerable distance each day to attend St. Norbert, she has of necessity had to exclude herself from most campus activities.

"This will be another big change for me. Being close to the campus, I would like to become an active part of the campus life there," she said.

Miss Dorner was valedictorian of her Luxemburg High School class in 1960. At Luxemburg High, she was active in dramatics, forensics, and was a class officer.

At St. Norbert, she is in the honors program, a program of accelerated study for the better students, and is active in dramatics and the Athenaeum Club.

A provision of the scholarship is that St. Norbert College has agreed to accept all of the credits she earns during her junior year abroad. She will then complete her college education on the De Pere campus.

Upon graduation from St. Norbert, she hopes to pursue graduate studies that will eventually qualify her for college teaching.

Mrs. Raatz Oshkosh Setting for Ceremony

OSHKOSH — St. John Catholic Church was the setting at 11 a.m. Saturday for the marriage of Miss Jean Marie Endres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ziegenhagen, route 4, Oshkosh, and Frederick C. Raatz, son of Mrs. Ida Raatz, 813 Fluor Court. The Rev. Walter T. Williams officiated.

Miss Helen Raatz attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Julia Macadam.

Best man was John Miller, Oshkosh. The bride's brother, David Ziegenhagen, acted as groomsmen. Ushering duties were performed by Lawrence Nigl - Lon Nigl.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and at the Columbus Club. After a northern Michigan wedding trip, the couple will reside at route 4, Oshkosh.

The couple was graduated from Oshkosh High School. The bride is employed at the American Excelsior Corp. Her husband is employed at the Viciyrite Candle Co.

The Golden Years

Here's How a Couple Found Its Paradise

BY THOMAS COLLINS

"My husband and I are thoroughly shocked by the image of retirement some people paint in your column . . ."

And thereupon told how she and her husband moved to Albuquerque, N. Mex., and found their Golden Years.

"My husband retired in 1957 after 35 years with his company. He was 65, and I was 62. I elected to take my Social Security then and our combined Social Security check is now $166.40. My husband has a company pension of just under $100 a month. Out of this we deduct $15 monthly for Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

"We owned a large home on five acres just outside a large town in the Midwest . . ."

The couple wanted to move, and had chosen Albuquerque. They visited it several times on vacation. They found the climate kind, the people friendly and the scenery colorful. Also, one of their sons lived there.

"We sold our home for $30,000 cash," the wife continued. "We also sold our furniture, reserving only my fine china, our hi-fi records and my husband's model-railroad equipment. All this we moved to Albuquerque in our son's pick-up truck. (Retired people who move are showing a growing talent for borrowing or renting a truck, or trading their car in for one, in order to move their reduced households at small cost.)

"We bought a home in Albuquerque, paying just what we got for our old home. We bought new furniture. We did not lower our standard of living.

"We never liked hamburgers or noodles and still don't. So our allowance for food is above the average. But we can have the food we want and live comfortably on our net income of just under $250 a month. We have our hi-fi music system, a color TV set (a gift from our son), a 1961 car. We also can take care of our life and car insurance premiums."

The couple takes life with a low-key effort. They arise between 7:30 and 8 a.m., have a slow breakfast, then read the newspaper thoroughly. After that they may, on a normal day, go out and work in their flower garden, or work on their lawn.

"which is the talk of the neighborhood."

Or they may work on mosaics together or go fishing. Individually, the wife may work on her knitting or crocheting. The husband may play with his model railroad or make models of oil refining equipment or the Space Needle at the Seattle World's Fair.

Once a year they go camping or take a vacation away from home. "This," said the wife, "compares with life back in the Midwest where we rose at 5:30 a.m. every day, where my husband worked about 10 hours a day, and where, after that, we had to keep our five-acre tract presentable. We fell into bed at 10 every night, and the only leisure we ever had during my husband's working years was his three-week vacation per year.

"We have time to enjoy our friends now, and we entertain informally on the slightest excuse. We have time for concerts and lectures, which are numerous in this university town. We are even taking up the study of Spanish.

"We spent much of our lifetime contributing to the wealth and welfare of our old community. We feel we can now indulge ourselves. In a new life, in new surroundings, with new friends we have found life stimulating. We are happy. We are enjoying health.

"Why should we be obligated to any other purpose?" This couple, apparently has caught the greased pig at the county fair. I have no argument with them, nor will most people. Financially, they are about par—with a $30,000 house paid for and $250 a month a couple can have a car and skip the hamburger. And buy flower seed and fish hooks. They are symbolic of many other pensioned couples in their belief that, now that they can afford it, they will relax.

Cyclist, 92, Injured by Car In Collision

OSHKOSH — A 92-year-old bicyclist, Charles F. Miller, 303A W. 15th Ave., received a elbow and hip injury when his bicycle and a car driven by Audrey Doemel, 209 Fulton St. collided Saturday at Oregon Street and W. Eighth Ave. Miller was taken to Mercy Hospital in the Moore ambulance.

Both the car and the bicycle were headed south on Oregon Street and the right rear fender of the car struck Miller's bicycle when the car made a right turn. Police said that despite Miller's advanced age, he often times a week would bicycle several miles across Oshkosh to tend a flower garden on the northeast side of the city.

Boy Who Swallowed Disinfectant Is Showing Improvement

HORTONVILLE — A rural Hortonville baby who swallowed some household disinfectant Saturday is reported improved at New London Community Hospital.

Douglas Collar, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Collar, route 1, Hortonville, was taken to the hospital by his father about 10:30 a.m. Saturday. He was escorted by Hortonville Police Chief Douglas Jones, who stopped the Collar car on the west limits of Hortonville for speeding. Collar explained his son had taken poison.

Chief Jones escorted the Collar car and the trip was made in a matter of minutes, he said. The Collar youth was conscious at the time he was taken to the hospital, Jones said, but he was crying.

Facsimile Ballot Notice OF SEPTEMBER PRIMARY ELECTION

SEPTEMBER 11, 1962

Office of County Clerk

STATE OF WISCONSIN OUTAGAMIE COUNTY TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

NOTICE is hereby given that an Election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts in the County of Outagamie, on the 11th day of September, 1962, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballot below.

Information To Voters

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting.

A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

At a party primary election, the voter shall select the party ticket of his choice and make a cross or other mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for each office for whom he intends to vote for, or by inserting or writing in the name of any other candidate.

The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of 2 election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is visually handicapped, he may have anyone assist him in marking his ballot or operating a voting machine. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

fate of the Nationalist pilot, but nationalist officials said privately they were convinced he could not have been captured alive.

It was recalled, however, that the Communists offered Aug. 8 to pay $200,000 in gold to any Nationalist pilot who delivered a U2 intact to the mainland.

Peiping's announcement was broadcast Sunday night in English.

Shot Down

"A U.S.-made high-altitude reconnaissance plane of the Chiang Kai-shek gang was shot down this morning by an air force unit of the Chinese People's Liberation Army when it intruded over East China," it said.

The Peiping People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, charged today that the plane was engaged "not in an isolated flight but in part of an over-all United States espionage program against Socialist (Communist) countries using Japan as the primary base."

The paper claimed the flight underscored U.S. "designs of aggression" in Asia and was linked to the two-day visit to Formosa of President Kennedy's military adviser, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Peiping's announcement did not disclose how the plane was brought down.

A Defense Department official in Washington said that if the Reds bagged the plane at its normal flying altitude of 60,000 to 90,000 feet, they must have the latest ground-to-air missiles at their disposal.

Swimming in This Pool As Good as Taking Bath

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Youngsters swimming in the children's pool at Bellvue Country Club Sunday came out as white as snow.

Pranksters dumped soap into the pool Saturday night creating a sea of suds.

The children loved it, John Rick, the swimming coach, said. "They're walking around here like a bunch of snowmen."

Miss America Once Chubby Girl, Begins Year's Reign

NEW YORK (AP)—Lovely Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, a once chubby little girl who gave up eating lunches to realize her dream of some day being Miss America, began her year's reign today.

But before leaving Atlantic City and the scene of her triumph Sunday, the auburn-haired beauty from Sandusky, Ohio, performed the last official act required of all the Miss America contestants. She ate lunch.

When she walked down the 167-foot runway moments after the Miss America crown was placed on her head Saturday night, Jackie presented to the cheering Convention Hall crowd a graceful and comely figure befitting a beauty queen. The hazel-eyed, 20-year-old Northwestern University student stood 5-feet-5, 115 pounds and measured 36-22-36 in the vital statistics department.

Always Chubby

But four years ago, you never would have known her, she said at her first news conference.

"I was always chubby until I was about 16 years old," she said.

Careful of Diet

Even today, she said, she must be careful of her diet.

Jackie looked fresh and bright

Magazine Finishes Move to New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post's editorial staff is scheduled to start work at 666 Fifth Avenue today, marking official completion of the magazine's move from Philadelphia.

In all, 66 editors and 54 other employees made the move from the city where the magazine had published since 1728.

control of the capital to stall attempts to organize an orderly national administration, mainly because of their fear of being placed under Boumediene's command.

They capitulated after a week-long civil war and evacuated the city several hours before Boumediene's forces arrived. In their new headquarters at Blida, 30 miles southwest of Algiers, the guerrilla leaders complained bitterly that they had been tricked. The cease-fire ending the civil war provided for only a small token force of the regular army to enter the demilitarized capital.

It was obvious that Ben Bella and Boumediene never had any intention of abiding by the demilitarization deal.

Guerrillas Remain

With the Wilaya 4 leaders eliminated as a national political force, only their allies, the guerrillas of Kabylie Mountain Wilaya No. 3, remained as an important stronghold of anti-Ben Bella politicians.

Some of Ben Bella's leading rivals were believed to have taken refuge in the Kabylie range east of Algiers, where the regular Boudiaf, once Ben Bella's only opponent of the Political Bureau, who resigned in protest against the military invasion of the rebel held areas.

There were indications that other members of the Political Bureau were not fully pleased with Ben Bella's use of the regular army to pave his way to power.

Friends Absent

Although all were Ben Bella's friends and allies, they were conspicuously absent from the viewing stand when Ben Bella, Lappa Island border sources reported. The bomb was the third unearthed by the Red Chinese in passenger luggage in recent weeks.

lative elections already postponed six times since French rule ended July 3.

All the election candidates will be returned unopposed in a single-party ballot giving the voters a choice only of saying yes or no to the official list. All the 196 candidates to be announced by the Political Bureau later this week are certain to be returned, and Ben Bella will have a dominant majority in the National Assembly.

Miss Engh's Act Was 'Too Risque'

Wednesday night, just prior to the talent competition.

"They felt my act would be a little too risque," Miss Engh said.

In the act, she was to have shed her wrap-around skirt to display a pair of sleek rhinestone-studded leotards. The routine was described by her mother, Mrs. Forrest Engh, as "just a little comedy act."

The La Crosse beauty then had to do a dance and song which she had not rehearsed.

Joan Mary was Wisconsin Alice in Dairyland in 1960 and is a graduate of La Crosse Aquinas High School. She attended La Crosse State College for two years but transferred this summer to the University of Wisconsin at Madison where she plans to study speech therapy.

Miss Engh is the second Wisconsin girl to finish as runnerup in the national contest. Mary Alice Fox of Sheboygan was second in 1960.

De Gaulle Tour of Germany Success

French Leader Scores Personal Triumph in Six-Day State Visit

BY DAVID M. NICHOL
Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — President Charles de Gaulle of France has scored one of the most imposing personal triumphs of any postwar leader in the course of his six-day state visit in Germany.

Weary from the rigors of his exacting schedule, but moved almost to tears by the response he has encountered, the 72-year-old statesman flew back to Paris from Stuttgart last night.

The last day of his tour was highlighted by a review of French troops and an appeal to a youth assembly in Ludwigsburg to give a "vital content" to the machinery of Franco-German co-operation.

If any formal agreements were made between De Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, there is no indication of them. The political talks, as such, could have been compressed into a single afternoon.

Far more important were the innumerable informal conversations with public officials and private individuals that occurred on the fringes of the formal gatherings, and De Gaulle's effect on the crowds that welcomed him everywhere he went.

The irreverent weekly news magazine Spiegel says today that Germans have not been so moved by any single personality since the days of Adolf Hitler's successes.

Messages Opposed
But De Gaulle's message and that of Hitler are diametrically opposed. Hitler preached a Europe united by force under the domination of the Nazis.

De Gaulle is the first European leader of any consequence in a thousand years to speak so effectively and directly to the people of a Europe united in liberty and peaceful co-operation. And people have reacted with deep and approving emotion.

In an era preoccupied with and terrified of, space ships and nuclear bombs, De Gaulle has returned to fundamentals. In his brief and eloquent speeches he seemed to be saying everywhere that the really important factor is what people think and do.

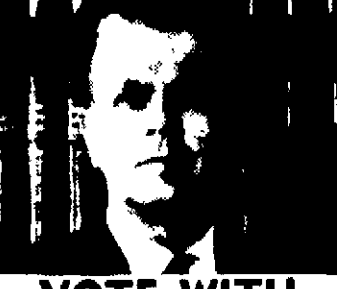

Past of Contributions
As people, he told the Germans bluntly, they have made "great mistakes." But he treated these as abnormalities in a long past of great contributions. From a Frenchman born in the wake of one war with Germany and a personal participant in two others, this is remarkable talk. His listeners got the impression this was based on genuine conviction.

"De Gaulle has restored the Germans to their history," writes one commentator today who has sometimes been cynical and critical in the past.

De Gaulle's success has not been accidental. No statesman ever worked harder or prepared himself more precisely for this "battle for the soul of Germany."

Learns German
De Gaulle wanted personal access to the people, and he realized this could be done only in their language. He had learned some basic German as a cadet at St. Cyr, the French military academy, and he learned some more as a prisoner of war of the Germans in World War I.

Against this slender background, he patiently memorized each of his speeches. Grammatically they were excellent, obviously carefully checked. The president's sweeping gestures and his Gallic accent seemed to give them additional substance.

Workers at the huge August Thyssen mills in Duisburg had been prepared to give him a courteous, but restrained welcome. Labor hasn't always been keen on De Gaulle.

Halls Ring
But when he appealed to them in German "to celebrate with me the greatest event of our age, the friendship of the French and German peoples," the vast mill halls rang with cheers.

Each of De Gaulle's speeches was keyed closely to his listeners and no foreign statesman has ever been so closely schooled in the nuances and differences among Germany's regions. He seemed to find just the right reference or note wherever he went.

The Lord Mayor of Hamburg was amazed at his own normally reserved burghers. They went wild. "Completely unusual," he murmured as he watched them in pouring rain.

De Gaulle said many things, but he left many others unsaid. He did not suggest, as many here had feared, that Germany must choose between friendship with France and alliance with the United States. Instead, he seemed to indicate that the two are not exclusive.

Nor did he ask for German assistance with his nuclear bomb projects. The impression is strong that he would rather not have this, although only De Gaulle seems to know how such areas of activity can be removed from the otherwise close co-operation he seeks.

He also managed to reassure the British considerably although this has not yet been reflected in British newspapers. De Gaulle now appears to be more in favor of British entry into the Common Market than is Adenauer. And one of the things De Gaulle obviously learned was that Adenauer is almost alone among Germans in his reservations about the British.

Obviously, too, the warmth of the German reception for their French friend has been disturbing to the Soviets. One of the core themes of Soviet policy has been that such close and genuine co-operation between France and Germany is impossible.

Mystery of Girl Left Alone Over, but End Of Story Isn't Happy
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The mystery of a 4-year-old girl left in the bus terminal here three weeks ago, unwilling or unable to reveal her name or address, was over today. But the happy ending hoped for was lacking.

Police identified "Smiley" as Jeannie Lee Odum, daughter of Louis Jean Litterer by a previous marriage. The child ran to her mother's arms Saturday in the reunion at the Marion County Children's Guardian Home.

Personnel at the home called her "Smiley" because she was always smiling.

Police charged Mrs. Litterer, 27, Chicago, with child neglect. She was held under $2,500 bond.

Mrs. Litterer arrived here Saturday with her mother, Ruby St. Clair, 44, Chicago. They first told police a mixup in the terminal Aug. 20 led to the incident.

Milwaukeean Drowns
ELKHORN (AP)—Walter Kemke, 56, Milwaukee, drowned Sunday when he fell out of a boat on Lake Delavan while attempting to start the outboard motor. His body was not recovered immediately.

About 10,000 railroad employees, including the 1,000 striking telegraphers, are off the job. Railroad President Clyde J. Fitzpatrick estimated Saturday the line has lost $6 million in the strike.

Job security is the principal issue in dispute. The telegraphers struck over a demand that no telegrapher's job should have been abolished since Dec. 3, 1957 without consultation with the union.

An emergency board established by Kennedy recommended the railroad agree to train displaced telegraphers for other jobs.

Latin Americans Split On Dealing With Cuba

Public unrest arising from economic and social causes only leads to harsher suppressive measures — to more guns for more soldiers to keep the people in line.

All the signs would seem to point to the fact that widespread dissatisfaction among the Cuban people has not weakened Castro on the theory that he is but has actually strengthened his fundamentally only another Latin regime. For the stronger he is militarily, the better he is able to repress the dissidents within Cuba. It happened in Hungary and in East Germany and it's happening in Cuba today.

A Fire Hazard to Any Neighborhood is a backyard like the one shown in this picture. At the lower left is a pile of ashes and scorched tin cans—the remains of some resident burning his trash in an open fire. Appleton's law prohibits open fires within 30 feet of buildings, trees, shrubs, bushes or fences. Even fires in incinerators must be 10 feet from buildings and five feet from trees, shrubs, bushes and fences.

These Two Examples of Residential incinerators show the kind city law prohibits and the type that is recommended. The one on the left is an uncovered, deteriorating old metal drum surrounded by high weeds and near a fence post that could catch fire. The neat, enclosed one on the right is the ideal kind. The city does allow the basket type incinerator, but it must be surrounded and covered with a number eight, one-inch wire mesh.

This is an Example of a Very dangerous way to burn trash. Appleton fire inspectors found this fire burning near bottle gas tanks while on a recent inspection tour on the city's northeast side. Violations of the burning ordinance such as this is one reason why Fire Chief Roland Kuehl wants all burning prohibited in the city. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Pick Up Trash, Ban Burning

Appleton Fire Chief Proposes

City's Ordinance Unenforceable, Incinerator Should be Provided

BY REINY WESSING
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fire Chief Roland L. Kuehl is proposing that Appleton repeal its trash burning ordinance and ban all burning within the city, except for outdoor cooking purposes.

He suggests that the city pick up all combustibles and dispose of them at a central location, just like it hauls away all garbage and buries it in a sanitary landfill.

Kuehl says that the present ordinance, which allows trash burning daily between 2 and 7 p.m., is a headache to enforce. He estimates that half the residential incinerators don't meet the specifications in the ordinance. He says that many, many people burn things outside of the specified hours.

"A very bad feature of the whole trash burning situation is that using a fireman for personal spite reasons. And that's not what we're hired or paid to do," the chief asserted.

Ald. Robert Stumpf told the council Wednesday night that he gets six and seven telephone calls a week complaining about trash burning.

Panel Leaders Set for State Conference

Menasha Woman to Lead Discussion at Red Cross Meeting

Mrs. C. J. Schmidt, Menasha, a member of the Outagamie County Red Cross chapter, will be chairman of a special panel discussion Oct. 11 at the Wisconsin State Conference of the American Red Cross in Appleton.

Mrs. Schmidt will conduct a workshop session on "Service to the Armed Forces". Keynoting her discussion will be Ted Panneck of the Brown County Chapter.

Mrs. D. R. Morrissey, a member of the Volunteer Field Consultants, will be chairman of a special panel discussion Oct. 12. She will conduct a workshop session on "Techniques in Selecting and Orienting Volunteers".

The two-day state Red Cross Conference will be held in Appleton Oct. 11 and 12 and will feature an address by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the National American Red Cross.

Other Speakers

Other speakers include Philip Schenkenberg, manager of the Midwestern Area of American Red Cross, St. Louis; Rev. Dennis M. Burke, O. Praem, president of St. Norbert College, De Pere; and Royce Kurtz, superintendent of schools, Appleton.

In addition to the workshop sessions, panel discussions will be held on the following Red Cross topics: fund raising, nursing services, services to the armed forces, water safety, educational public information, finance, disaster services, blood services, first aid, community services, Red Cross orientation, public training techniques and planning meetings.

Mrs. Morrissey estimates that between 700 and 800 Wisconsin Chapter members will be in attendance for the conference, which is to be the first held in any Wisconsin city other than Madison.

Wolf River Plan To be Discussed At Breakfast Talk

Business and recreation will be featured in talks scheduled for Appleton service clubs this week.

Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, will discuss the Wolf River project at a meeting of the Appleton Breakfast Optimists Club Tuesday.

Charles Buchanan of the Appleton Wire Works and Talbot Peterson of Valley Iron Works Corp. will give "business thumbnails" of their companies to fellow Rotarians Tuesday, with emphasis on the relationship of these industries to the history of Appleton.

Outagamie County game warden Charles Wranosky will bring the Northside Kiwanis Club up to date on recent changes in game and fishing laws Tuesday.

The Appleton Noon Optimists Club heard Gov. Gaylord Nelson this noon.

Charles Manson, insurance commissioner of Wisconsin, talked to the Appleton Lions Club today.

Coin Changer Looted of $22 At Laundromat

A coin-changer located in the Sundial Laundromat, 1326 N. Meade St., was opened and about $22 in dimes was taken sometime over the weekend, Appleton police were told Sunday.

Walter Gast, 152 Washington St., Kaukauna, manager of the laundromat, told police that someone had opened the changer with a key and taken the money. There were no pry marks on the machine and it was not broken open.

Gast said someone had taken about $15 from a similar machine in a Little Chute laundry three times in 11 days about three months ago.

Area Villages Voting Hours Set

KAUKAUNA — Voting hours scheduled for Kaukauna, Combined Locks, Kimberly and Little Chute are as follows:

Kaukauna, at 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Ward One and Two at the Park School; Ward Three and Four at the Nicolet School, and Ward Five at the Vocational School.

Combined Locks, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., at the village hall.

Kimberly, 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the back room of the village hall.

Little Chute, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the village hall.

Sewing Classes Set For Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Registration for fall and winter sewing classes in the village will be held from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m. Tuesday in the sewing room of the village hall.

Classes in beginning, intermediate, advanced sewing and tailoring will get underway Sept. 24. Instructors will be Mrs. Paul Hiltman and Mrs. Josephine Toben.

Nelson Visits at Fox Cities Plants

Governor Braves Rain as He Seeks Votes for U. S. Senator

Gov. Gaylord Nelson is in the Fox Cities today looking for votes in his bid for a United States Senate seat.

The governor got an early start, getting up at 5 a. m. He shook hands with workers at Appleton Coated Paper Co. until 7 a.m.

Rain did not deter him as he stood in a drizzle most of the morning shaking hands and passing out campaign literature. Nelson came to Appleton after spending Sunday campaigning in Waupaca County.

Firefighters 'Play Ball', Spirits High

Appleton and Oshkosh firemen engaged in a bit of a softball skirmish at Pierce park Saturday afternoon and it wound up with, if you pardon the expression, nobody knowing the score.

Although a few "casualties" were reported, a good time and fair amount of refreshments were had by all.

It was generally conceded that Chief Otto Stoegebauer's Oshkosh aggregation won the game, but the final score got lost in the shuffle.

At last report, the combatants had arrived at a peaceful agreement to the effect the official score would show Oshkosh posted a 3 to 2 victory over the local firemen.

Refreshments, which always add more spirit to such an occasion, were stationed at second base and home plate as per mutual agreement of both sides, with no dissenting votes.

"There were so many players coming and going we couldn't keep track if they were running for a score or refreshments," joked Appleton Chief Roland L. Kuehl, who appeared to be assuming the role of a gracious loser.

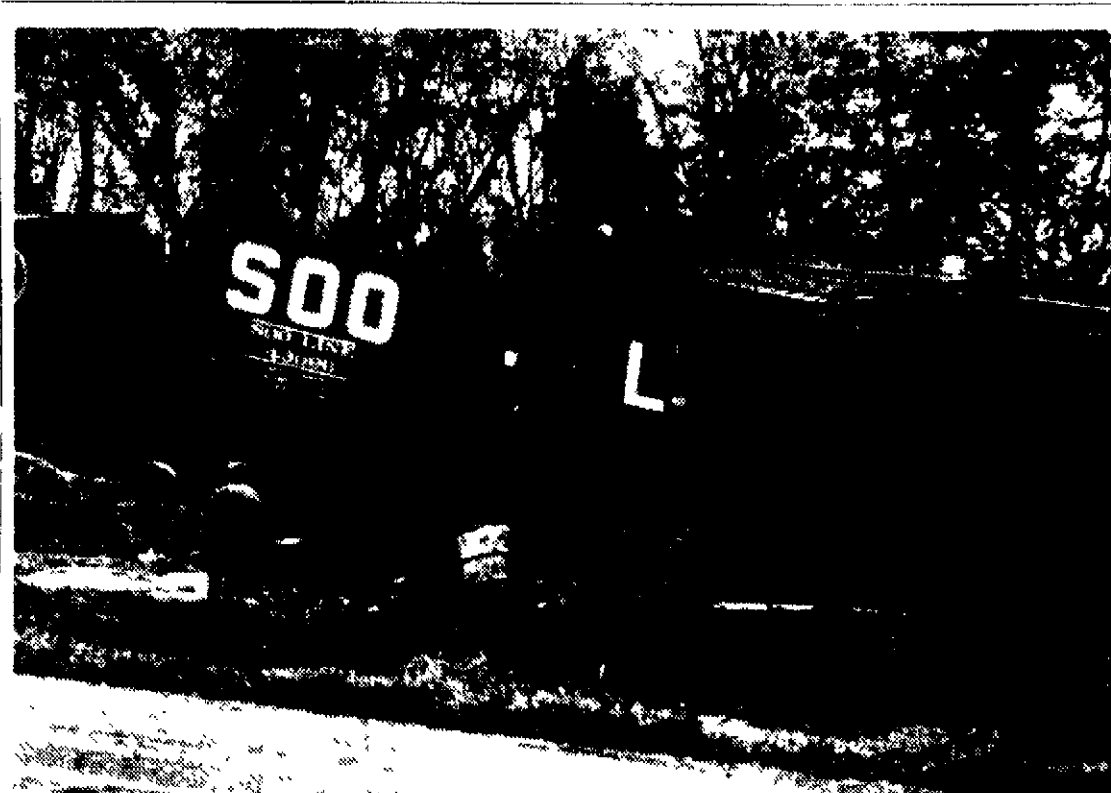

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who handled the pitching chores for Appleton, was at his desk at city hall this morning but admittedly with sore ribs. His honor or some how did an offbeat version of a swan dive.

The game's other "victim" was Chief Stoegebauer who pulled a muscle in his left leg. He stayed around to join in celebrating the victory.

Police Catch Tomato Tossers

Police questioned and released four boys to their parents who Saturday admitted they had been throwing ripe tomatoes at cars on Packard Street near the ravine.

The boys told police they took the tomatoes from a garden near the ravine about 8:30 p.m. The tants, sergeants at arms and boys threw two tomatoes — one scoring a direct hit on a motorist on Packard Street.

Two Cars of This Soo Line freight train from Fond du Lac to Manitowoc were derailed at the Waverly Beach crossing at 8 a.m. today. Cause of the derailment is not known. The engine and 44 cars had passed this point when the two cars went off the tracks and 300 feet of rails were torn up. A wrecker from Stevens Point is expected to have the tracks cleared by late this afternoon. (Post-Crescent Photos)

But He's Not Entirely Sold On Survey's 'Vague' Plans

BY BILL CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mayor Clarence Mitchell today threw support behind the proposed creation of a finance director's post within Appleton's municipal government as a step toward streamlining the financial structure.

However, Mitchell and several other city officials had mixed emotions over last week's announced proposal by the Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin which called for wholesale overhauling of the city's financial administration.

The report, termed "vague" by some of the elective officials who would be affected by it, recommended that:

Stella Pedersen, dean of women at Stout State College, will address parents of freshmen at Kaukauna High school at 7:30 p.m. today.

American Legion District Installs 11 New Officers

LITTLE CHUTE — Installation of officers, and plans for a membership campaign were made at the fall conference of the Ninth District of the American Legion here Sunday.

Officers installed were Wendell Williams, commander; Elfred Bergner and Sylvan Lamers, vice commanders; Henry Huse, chaplain; Edward Arndt, adjutant; Frances Heesacker and Victor James, service officers; Steven Andrejeski and Joseph Martinson, sergeants at arms; Mrs. Grace Powless, historian, and James Martineau, judge advocate.

The vice commanders were named to head the membership drive and a report on Camp American Legion was given by James Peeters, a member of the state camp board.

Morning sessions of the day-long affair consisted of training schools for commanders, adjutants, sergeants at arms and service officers.

Dinner was served at 12:30 p.m. in the legion hall.

Not Enthusiastic

Elective officials who found themselves the principal targets of the expenditure survey report were far from enthusiastic. However, two of the three officials who could be reached for comment indicated there were some recommendations that had merit but left "the people should have the final say." In other words, they want any major changes put to a referendum, although they did not say so in those words.

Mayor Mitchell said he has favored creating the post of finance officer but had reservation as to whether one man could handle all duties prescribed in the report.

"I think the report should be given serious consideration," Mitchell said. "It should be reviewed from beginning to end."

Mitchell felt parts of the report were vague but stressed that he did not have ample time to give thorough study to all of its content. The mayor expressed some doubt as to the consolidation of some positions which are now elective.

Thorough Study

"The best thing to do is sit down and go over the report step-by-step with members of the common council, department heads and representatives of the survey group," Mitchell said.

It was the mayor's contention that at such a session the entire report could be broken down with "pros and cons" thoroughly aired. At the same time, the expenditure group could detail how proposed changes could be implemented with a minimum of confusion and controversy.

Mitchell made it clear he favored the finance officer position but cast some doubt over other phases of the report.

Favors Division

Clerk - Comptroller Elden Broehm favored division of the positions he now holds by virtue of ordinance. In fact, Broehm backed the proposal to separate the office of clerk and comptroller in a letter sent to the council's finance committee in July. He said work of the comptroller has increased steadily and is difficult to perform along with the duties of the clerk.

Broehm said he advocated the separate position of comptroller this summer with the thought the latter could start preliminary

2 Soo Line Cars Derailed Today At Waverly Beach

Two cars of a Soo Line freight train were derailed and 300 feet of rails were torn up at the Waverly Beach crossing at 8 a. m. today. There were no injuries.

The cause of the derailment is not known. The engine and 44 cars of the 52-car train had passed over the point of derailment when the two cars went off the tracks. The last six cars did not pass over the point.

The train was the Soo Line's No. 46 from Fond du Lac to Manitowoc. The accident happened at Fire Lane No. 1 on tracks owned by the Milwaukee Road.

A wrecker was brought from Stevens Point, and is expected to have the tracks cleared by late this afternoon. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Synod of New Lutheran Church to Meet in Neenah

600 Expected for Constituting Convention of New Group

NEENAH — Lay members and R. R. Belter, Unity Lutheran Church, Milwaukee. The convention will open at 9 a.m. Friday, with holy communion at St. Paul Church, Neenah, Friday and Saturday. An estimated 450 delegates and their pastors have registered to date from the eighth largest of the 32 newly created synods in the church.

The Rev. Arthur R. Tingley, pastor of the host church, expects that final registration will mount to 600 representatives of the four merging Lutheran bodies in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

In a pre-convention meeting members of the Joint Commission on Lutheran Unity, made up of 12 clergymen, each representing the four Lutheran bodies which united into the Lutheran Church of America at Detroit, Mich. last June, will go over the order of business for Friday and Saturday. Chairman of the Joint Commission on Lutheran Unity is Dr.

man's breakfast 7:30 a.m. Saturday. Reservations for this breakfast can be made through the St. Paul Church office.

Saturday's session opens at 9 a.m., to consider the election announcements, recommendations for Wisconsin - Upper Michigan Synod headquarters, district boundaries, terms of district officers, annual convention date, name for the synod, appointment of delegates to the Lutheran Church in America convention and the adoption of the synod seal.

Area Churches to Participate Luncheon will be served at the church from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. The closing session will begin at 1:30 p.m. Adjournment is expected to be about 4 p.m.

Lutheran churches in this area which will be taking part in the Neenah constituting convention are previous affiliates of the United Lutheran Church in America. Delegates will come from Resurrection, Green Bay, the Rev. Ellsworth E. Freyer; First United, Sheboygan, the Rev. G. William Gensler; Our Saviour's, Fond du Lac, the Rev. Bernard J. Stecker; Calvary, Two Rivers, the Rev. Marvin W. Oechler; St. Andrews, the Rev. Merton H. Leubke and St. John's, the Rev. Erling W. Rabe, Oshkosh.

Appleton Lutheran churches included are Trinity, the Rev. Ingolf B. Kindem and Our Saviour's, the Rev. Ralph C. Sandgren. Helping with convention plans and details are two Twin City churches, St. Timothy, the Rev. Robert C. Jacobson, Menasha, and St. Mark's, the Rev. Thomas M. Warne, Neenah.

Chairman of arrangements for the convention is James Powers, Neenah. Mrs. Harvey Larson of St. Paul's is hospitality chairman.

Herman Malchow Dies at Age 91

NEENAH — Herman Malchow, route 1, Neenah, died Sunday at his home at the age of 91 years. He had been ill for a year.

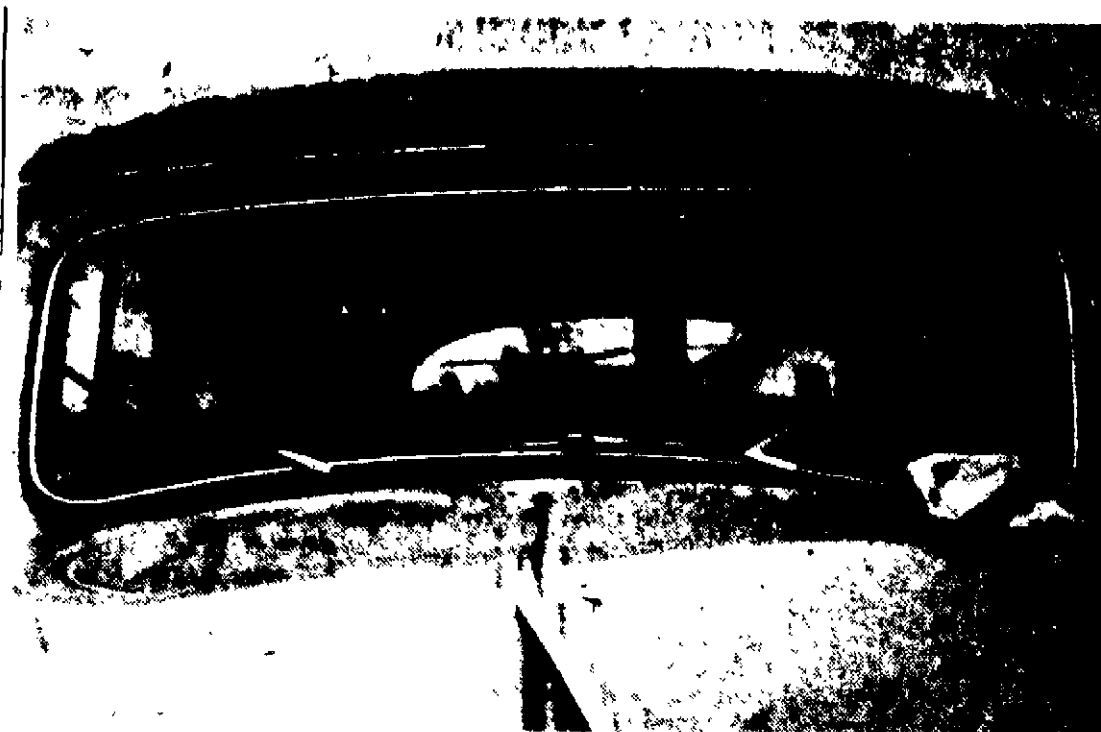

Born July 18, 1871, in Germany, he had farmed in the Town of Neenah for 62 years. He and his wife observed their 68th wedding anniversary on Aug. 30.

Survivors are the widow; one son, a daughter, three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Westgrove Funeral Home with the Rev. Harvey E. Norenberg of the Immanuel United Church of Christ in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Tuesday and a prayer service will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Rubbish Collection

NEENAH — Rubbish will be collected Wednesday in the First, Second, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh and Ninth Wards. Non-burnable rubbish should be on the curb by 7 a.m.

JFK Answers Twin Cities Mayor's Letters

Urge Early Solution To Dispute Between Telegraphers, C&NW

MENASHA — Two letters concerning the Telegrapher Union's strike against the Chicago and North Western Railroad — now entering its second week — were received by Mayors John Klein, Menasha, and Carl E. Loehning, Neenah, this morning.

Both of the communications were in answer to telegrams from Mayors Klein and Loehning of Aug. 31, which urged the President to seek an early solution to the dispute. One of the letters was from President John F. Kennedy, and the other, from Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg.

President Kennedy's letter was a copy of a telegram which he sent to both parties to the dispute on Aug. 28. It read: "Earlier this month, I requested the parties to extend the strike deadline and to attempt by collective bargaining to resolve this dispute. Regrettably, these sessions did not result in an agreement."

"I urge the parties to cooperate in this effort since the public interest plainly calls for a peaceful and equitable settlement," the President's telegram concluded.

Secretary of Labor Goldberg's letter to Klein and Loehning read:

"The President has asked me to acknowledge your telegram to him concerning the Chicago and North Western railway dispute."

"Enclosed is a copy of the telegram dispatched by the President on Aug. 28 to the parties, urging them to cooperate with the secretary of Labor and the National Mediation Board in an effort to affect a peaceful and equitable settlement of this dispute. You can be assured that I will do everything possible to bring this about," Goldberg's letter concluded.

Physical Therapist Will be Added to VNA Nursing Staff

NEENAH — Announcement of the appointment of a physical therapist to the Visiting Nurse Association staff has been made by Miss Aileen Rummel, nurse director. Mrs. Corrine Moegenburg will join the staff on Sept. 17 and will give therapy for patients needing rehabilitation and therapeutic services at home.

Mrs. Moegenburg received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1959. She worked as a therapist in the Gillette State Hospital, St. Paul, Minn. and at Luther Hospital, Eau Claire. She is a member of the American Physical Therapists Association.

Oshkosh Man Renamed To State Board Office

OSHKOSH — Morton J. Gazerwitz, Oshkosh, was reelected vice chairman of the State Board of Veterans Affairs at a recent meeting. Chosen again to be chairman was Gen. Ralph J. Olson, state adjutant general. Dr. Royal J. Mashek, Milwaukee, was reelected secretary.

The Board of Veterans Affairs serves to determine policy for conducting the Wisconsin veterans' program. Other members are Gov. Gaylord Nelson; James Martineau, Oconto; Bertell MacDonaid, Wausau; and Herbert C. Geitmann, Beaver Dam.

Working on Storm Sewer

Man Gets 2,400 Volt Shock, Reported in Good Condition

MENASHA — Despite receiving a 2,400-volt electric shock Sunday morning, a 27-year-old Dykesville man today was in satisfactory condition.

Injured was Dale Bouchenville, an employee of Chapel & Amundson, Green Bay contractor. He was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital at 8:40 a.m. Sunday by Brown ambulance.

He was on a work crew installing 8 by 8-foot sections of concrete storm sewer pipe under the Milwaukee Road spur track running north from the city. The point was at the crossing of County Trunk P at St. Mary Cemetery.

According to county police, Bouchenville was guiding a 12-ton section of the pipe with a rope while a crane was lifting the pipe into the 20-foot pit under the track right-of-way. The boom of the crane, operated by James Pohorny, 45, Green Bay, came into contact with the 2,400-volt line at the east end of the excavation.

At the same time, Bouchenville slipped. His head hit the track of the crane and the electricity passed through his body to the moist ground.

Alert fellow workers, led by William Zelminger, Menasha's city inspector on the job, gave Bouchenville mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until Menasha police arrived with their portable oxygen bottles.

The work crew was on a three-shift basis to complete the sewer line section while the track was not in use. It normally carries traffic five days a week.

The storm sewer project was begun last fall to eliminate flooding of the northeast part of the city. Its total cost will be $1,300,000.

New Superintendent Sought for Sewage Treatment Plant

MENASHA — Applications for the post of sewerage treatment plant superintendent are being sought by the Neenah - Menasha Sewerage Commission, it was learned today.

The present superintendent, Arnold Sorensen, is at retirement age and will train his successor. The Twin City plant is a primary treatment plant and a secondary treatment plant is now in the engineering stage. The plant also includes the incineration of garbage and rubbish.

Treatment at the Neenah-Menasha plant is equivalent to that needed for a population in excess of 100,000.

Site Approved for Courthouse Work

Extension Will Connect Main Building to 5-Year-Old Annex

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
 If the present Outagamie County courthouse is expanded, the extension will connect the main courthouse's north wing on Seventh Street and the 5-year-old annex building at Elm Street.
 The site for the expansion was approved by the Outagamie County board of supervisors today, but the action did not halt mounting support for construction of a new courthouse building away from the downtown area and near the city limits.
 Supv. Arthur Lecker, Town of Grand Chute, opened discussion of a new building housing all county offices, the sheriff and traffic departments and the county jail, at a site near the Outagamie County airport. Lecker's suggestion received wide support from several other supervisors.

Committee To Act
 The board, however, acted on the motion directing the county's insurance and property committee to study expansion details on the courthouse's north wing. The expansion probably will be built on stilts to allow minimum parking in the present courthouse parking lot.

Gordon Schultz, the committee chairman for the property committee, said the action of the county board in approving the motion did not scrap plans for an entirely new structure. He said it may be possible the committee, in studying the proposed addition, may find a new structure more feasible.
 Appleton architect, George Narovec, told the county board that additional floors on the old courthouse were impossible because the building would not support more than three floors.

Narovec said, however, the proposed expansion could have as many as 10 or 16 floors, depending on what the county needed. The 90-foot expansion would include two floors of office space. The top floor would be for Huber law prisoners. There could be a basement, depending on what the committee recommends, Narovec said.

Three Hurt In Collision At Intersection
 Three persons received minor injuries and were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 6:30 p.m. Sunday after a collision at U.S. 41 and Meade Street.

Roman N. Eckes, 43, 230 E. Lindbergh St., driver of a car which was stopped to make a left turn from 41 onto Meade Street, received bruises and bumps and his wife, Iris, complained of head and neck injuries.

A car driven by Edwin R. Lumitee, said the action of the county board in approving the motion did not scrap plans for an entirely new structure. He said it may be possible the committee, in studying the proposed addition, may find a new structure more feasible.

 work on the 1963 city budget, starting in September.
 On making some elective positions appointive, Broehm came right to the point.

 "The voters of Appleton have expressed votes of confidence in elected officials in past elections, and I continue to feel that city posts should remain on the ballot," Broehm declared.

City Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein said he did not have the chance to study the report in detail, but thought "perhaps it is pretty vague from what I have read."

"Pretty Vague"
 "The people should have a say when changing the form of our government and I think the people will," Feuerstein said. He was emphatic in his opinion that some proposed changes be put to a referendum vote so as to "lay it directly in the hands of the people."

Feuerstein took strong exception to that phase of the report pertaining to his elective office. "I am wondering what the city would do without the position of treasurer, and who would take the statute-invested responsibility of collecting tax monies," Feuerstein said.

"Very Unhappy"
 City Assessor John A. Pierre, whose position would be affected if recommendations are carried out, could not be reached for comment. A reliable city hall source reported Pierre was "very unhappy with the report," Pierre went on vacation the day after it was distributed.

Ald. Alvin Tews, chairman of the council's powerful finance committee, questioned changes in elective positions and criticized phases of the report. He did, however, subscribe to the policy of centralized purchasing to include all boards and agencies.

"My remarks concerning the report can be summed up very well in the first line of the summary on page 37 which reads, 'The financial administration in the city has been capably handled,'" Tews said.

Sees Disadvantage
 Tews said he felt sweeping changes recommended for some positions could result in a decided disadvantage to the city. "I seriously question the advisability and wisdom of placing the duties of clerk, treasurer and assessor under the jurisdiction of one individual," Tews said.

"This report in my estimation dwells largely with functions and procedures as carried out under our present system of operation," Tews added. He said it fails to explain in sufficient detail what would be involved in the new proposal.

Tews said before the city council could intelligently evaluate the proposed new organization against the one currently used, a more detailed report would have to be submitted.

Need Chart
 "This report, in my opinion, should contain a model organizational chart showing lines of authority; the relative merits of a centralized accounting system versus the present decentralized system; and detailed comparison of operating costs between the current organizational setup versus the new proposal, combined with an estimate of annual savings to the city under the new if there are any," Tews explained.

Police Scuttle Plans Of Four Young Sailors To Put Off to Sea

Four youths' plans to put to "sea" were scuttled by police Saturday when they interrupted the sailors in their efforts to loosen a sewer gate on Green Bay Street and sail their small boat through.

Police were called to the scene by a neighbor near the gate who said four boys were taking the gate apart. When police arrived, three of the youths ran away, but a fourth, seated in the boat, chose to remain with his ship, and was told by police to repair the gate.

Music Parents Slate Tuesday Night Meeting

financial administration is being capably handled, what justification do we have for establishing an entirely new department as possibly an additional cost to taxpayers anywhere from $15,000 to $25,000 a year," Tews added. He warned that the common council should not let itself be "maneuvered into a hasty decision for which we could be sorry for later."

The city's finance chairman said he did subscribe to some changes in reporting, budgeting and accounting procedures and felt considerable progress has been made in that direction in recent years.

Shows Doubt
 Ald. R. P. Groh, council personnel committee chairman, said the separate position of comptroller should be established. He felt the report required considerable study and he was somewhat doubtful about eliminating elective positions. "I think we would be endangering the democratic process by starting to make everything appointive," Groh warned.

Council President Robert J. Stumpf did not want to comment on the merits of the report until studying it. He predicted the finance officer proposal would be the biggest issue.

Ald. George Buckley is spearheading the drive within the council to get a fulltime director of finance. The study was made for the new position. Buckley was out of the city and not available for comment on the report.

Lucey Claims Mofil Vote Backs Kennedy

Says District Race Will Affirm or Deny Support of President

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The issue in the Eighth District congressional election this fall is not whether Rep. John Byrnes will be re-elected or whether Owen Monfils will defeat him but is the chance to demonstrate support for President John Kennedy.

Patrick Lucey, state Democratic chairman, offered this analysis Saturday night at a Hotel Northland testimonial fund raising dinner for Monfils attended by 160 persons. Tickets at $5 each were sold throughout the district.

The closeness of the President's 1960 election has been used by conservative members of both parties for "a devil may care attitude toward specific sections of the President's program," said Lucey. Byrnes, he said, is among these leading conservatives.

Unique Significance
 "This mid-term election therefore has unique significance because while his name is not on the ballot, the fact is President Kennedy is coming before the people asking for a mandate his critics say he did not get in 1960," Lucey said.

"The very prominence of John Byrnes as an opposition leader makes it imperative that President Kennedy receive a vote of confidence in the Eighth District Nov. 6," said Lucey.

"A vote for John Kennedy's most vocal opposition will only encourage Mr. Khrushchev to move boldly and treacherously in the continuing tension of the cold war," Lucey said.

Kennedy Policy
 The nation since Kennedy took office, said Lucey, has a "firm policy based on strength but never losing sight of man's desire for peace." This stands as a gain since the Eisenhower administration marked by "ill-conceived summit meetings" and riots against America in Japan and South America, he said.

Monfils in a brief speech renewed his challenge to debate

Monday, Sept. 10, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent #3

Byrnes "any place, any time, on any issue."
 Byrnes, said Monfils, is a "stand-pat congressman" with no program of his own despite his tenure from 1944. Monfils said he, contrasted to Byrnes, stands for medicare, federal aid to education, a new farm program, urban renewal, and social security expansion.

Lucey announced that $1,500 was being allocated to the Monfils campaign from the state Jefferson-Jackson day dinner at which President Kennedy spoke.

Boston Downs Yanks Twice; Twins, Angels Suffer Defeats

White Sox Move to Fourth by Taking Two From Washington

BY JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the New York Yankees played two games every day, they might be holding up the American League instead of heading it.

The Yankees dropped a pair to the Boston Red Sox Sunday, 9-3 and 3-1 in 16 innings, for their eighth doubleheader loss this season. They have split 10, and event only three.

That works out to a .381 pace and spread over the full season it would put the Yankees in a flat tie for ninth place with the Washington Senators—who are going at the same speed.

Within 2½ Games

The Yanks also have lost one day night ball and split three. These are not counted as doubleheaders by the league since separate admissions are charged if they were. The Yankee twinnish percentage would drop to .330 a tenth place pace.

But if the formula for beating the Yankees has been found at last the two top pursuers lost a golden opportunity to take advantage of it.

The second place Minnesota Twins dropped a 10-9 battle to Detroit and the third place Angels fell 4-3 to Baltimore in 14 innings. The Twins moved to within 2½ games and the Angels to four but there is bad news for them. The Yankees are not scheduled to play any more double bills this season.

In other action the Chicago White Sox slipped into fourth place ahead of Detroit by trimming Washington twice, 4-3 and 3-2 in 11 innings and the Cleveland Indians dropped Kansas City 12-7.

The Red Sox squeezed home the winning run in the 16th inning of the nightcap after Bob Tillman doubled and went to third on a wild pitch. Pinch hitter Billy Gardner, a former Yankee, laid down a perfect hunt that scored Tillman and went for a single. Marshall Bridges had pitched scoreless innings in relief until the break through Dick Radatz who has the league's second best earned run average took over in the seventh, allowed the run that tied the game at 4-4 and then shut out the Yankees the rest of the way.

Home runs by Carl Yastrzemski, Ed Bressoud and Lou Clinton powered the opening game victory and spoiled the pitching debut of Skinny Brown for the Yankees. Bill Morinquette went all the way for Boston.

A two-run homer by Bob Allison in the fifth gave Minnesota a lead but the Tigers stormed back. Don Mincher hit a three-run pinch homer in the sixth and Joe Lunn pitched home in the sixth for another lead but Detroit tied it 3-2 pitch leading off the eighth in the same inning and broke out with four in the seventh. Bernie Schuchman from the bullpen. The big Allen hit a three-run homer in the eighth.

Dodgers Beat Bucs, Retain Slim Lead

Giants Keep Pace With 5-4 Victory

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Because Maury Wills, the "larcenous" son of a Washington minister, refuses to adhere to the age-old commandment, "thou shalt not steal," the Los Angeles Dodgers are still in first place today by half a step.

That was just about all Wills needed Sunday as he stole three more bases and helped the Dodgers defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 to protect their half game National League lead over the relentless San Francisco Giants, who kept pace by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-4.

The Dodgers' mercury-footed shortstop, staging a one-man show before 37,394 fans hit three singles in four at bats, stole second each time and scored twice. His three hits gave him nine in his last 12 at bats. His three stolen bases gave him eight in his last three games and 25 in his last 22.

Needs 11 More

With 86 stolen bases in 144 games Wills needs 11 more to top Ty Cobb's modern major league record of 96 set with Detroit in 1915. The Tigers played 156 games that year. The Dodgers have 18 left in their 162 game schedule.

Cincinnati's third place Reds fell 5-2 games off the pace and virtually out of the race losing a 5-3 decision to St. Louis when the Cardinals scored five runs in the ninth inning. Four on Carl Savatyn's grand slam homer Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 4-2 and Houston played a 7-7 tie with New York. The game halted after eight innings to allow the Mets to catch a plane will be completed in New York Sept. 20.

Southpaw Johnny Podres was touched for 11 hits in 7 1/3 innings but got his 17th victory for the Dodgers in 24 decisions. Wills hitting safely in his 17th consecutive game singled with two out in the third promptly stole second and scored the game's first run on Jim Gilliam's single. Wills singled again in the fifth and stole his 85th base. The jet-propelled infielder singled once more in the seventh, stole second went to third on an infield out and scored when Pittsburgh catcher Smokey Burgess hit him in the back with a pickoff attempt.

Felipe Alou paced the Giants with a home run (No. 24) double and two singles. The right fielder drove in three runs and scored twice. He now has hit safely in his last seven games at bat. The league record is 10 consecutive hits.

Lefty Mike McCormick replacing the injured Juan Marichal in tion of the field as they co-drove their Chaparral to the 500 mile sports car championship in record time here Sunday.

The men toured the distance in 5 hours, 53 minutes 18 seconds, for an average speed of 84,978 miles per hour. The old record was 82,291 miles per hour set last year by Augie Pabst of Milwaukee and Walt Hansgen of Westport, N.J.

Hall and Sharp won by two laps before a crowd of 36,000. Bob Donner of Colorado Springs, Colo. and Don Sessler of Lancaster, Ohio, finished second in a Porsche. E. L. Hall of Deerfield, Ill. and Glen Carroll, Northfield, Ill., finished third.

Pabst and Hansgen driving a Briggs Cunningham entry, were forced out of the race with mechanical trouble with 33 laps to go. Art Twedale, Rosslyn, Va., and Frank Baptista, Falls Church, Va., finished fourth in a Lola. Chuck Dietrich, Sandusky, Ohio and Carl Haas, Chicago, finished fifth in an Elva.

Knights Beat St. Thomas '11' With Passes

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — St. Norbert quarterback Chuck Hoch threw three touchdown passes to end Pat Pavelski to give the Green Knights a 27-12 football victory over St. Thomas College Sunday.

The Toms outgained the Wisconsin team 201-100 yards on the ground but could not stop the Green Knight passing attack.

St. Thomas scores came in the second half after St. Norbert had piled up a 14-0 lead. Halfback Jim Hoover scored on a one yard plunge and Dave Fields got the other touchdown on a 12-yard end sweep.

Green Bay's mighty Packers and the resurgent Cleveland Browns stand out as favorites as the National Football League heads into its 43rd season.

The Packers, with the same powerful team that swept to the Western Division title and devastated New York 37-0 in the championship playoff last year, open season over the Washington Redskins with a home game against the Minnesota Vikings Sunday when the 14 club league begins firing. The Browns, once in the East but shut out the Steelers (23) over the Baltimore Colts (21) in a day game Saturday, Baltimore, Chicago at San Francisco and the Detroit Lions (4-1) beat the St. Louis Cardinals (1-3-1) 14-0 Friday night.

Xavier '11' Smashes Escanaba, 28 to 0, In Season Opener

Crusaders Fail to Cross Mid-Field On Offense; Bleier Scores Twice

ESCANABA, Mich. — Xavier passed for two second period touchdowns that gave Xavier a 14-0 halftime advantage and a pair of fumble recoveries set up the Hawk scores in the third and fourth quarters.

After a scoreless first period

High School opened its 1962 football season with a convincing 28-0 victory over Holy Name of Escanaba Sunday afternoon.

In stretching their 3 season win streak to 14 the Hawks limited Holy Name to two first downs in the game 39 yards rushing, only two yards via the air. The Crusaders never crossed the mid-field stripe moving upfield only as far as their 44-yard line on offense.

Quarterback Dick Wiesner

Wiesner Bleier
Wiesner capped a 54-yard march by passing 19 yards to Kin Whittinger. Wiesner added the point from placement, his first of four straight for a 7-0 lead.

50-Yard Play
With 22 seconds left in the first half Xavier went into a spread formation and Wiesner fired a scoring pass to "Rocky" Bleier on a play that covered 50 yards. Wiesner again converted for a 14-0 half-time advantage.

Midway in the third period Bleier recovered a fumble by John Fienm of Holy Name on the Crusader 31. In three plays the Hawks scored again with Tom Peete's going over from the four. Wiesner's boot made it 21-0.

Early in the final stanza center Tom Schaeppert, of Xavier, recovered a fumble on the Crusader 44. On the first play from scrimmage Bleier romped the 44 yards to score on a reverse that proved to be the winners' bread-and-butter play all afternoon. Wiesner kicked the point again.

When time ran out in the game Xavier was banging on the touch down door again. The Hawks were in possession on the Holy Name 2.

Bleier was the top ground game for the Hawks as he picked up 106 yards in 15 carries. Peeters had 41 yards in 11 carries.

Nicklaus Puts Earnings Over $100,000 Figure With 'Series' Victory

Palmer, Player Tie for Second, 4 Strokes Behind

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—When the incentives and the prizes are big, 22-year-old Jack Nicklaus appears to be the boss of America's golfers.

He may have replaced Arnold Palmer as Pharaoh of the fairways Sunday when he won the first World Series of Golf—leaving the LaRrobe, Pa., belter and PGA champion Gary Player four strokes in the wake of his birdies and pars.

The sensational rookie from Columbus, Ohio, in his first year has a pro after winning a couple of national and numerous other amateur fixtures, hoisted his 1962 earnings over the $100,000 mark by picking up the first place check of $50,000. Palmer, first day leader by a stroke over Nicklaus and four over Player, had to settle for a second place tie with the dapper South African—each getting $12,500.

None of the money won here, however, counts on the official PGA money-winning list since the world series was rated an exhibition. Palmer remains the leader in money earned this year with over $80,000—a single season record.

Skeptics Convinced
Skeptics, who thought Nicklaus' three-stroke victory over Palmer in the National Open playoff could have been a fluke, were convinced in this extravaganza before the NBC color cameras that this 210-pound blond youngster from the Buckeye capital has all the shots he needs to carry him—and keep him—at the peak of the pile.

Palmer, putting sensationally, had torn this 7,165-yard Firestone course apart in the first round with a 65, matching the course record. But he found himself only

Laver, Emerson Meet for Crown At Forest Hills

Darlene Hard, Last U. S. Hope, Duels Margaret Smith in Finals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rod Laver will reach the end of the rainbow today and it could be lined with gold.

The 158-pound Australian meets his countryman, Roy Emerson, for the national tennis championship—the second year in a row these two Davis Cup teammates have tangled in the final. Emerson won in straight sets last year.

This time, though, a barrel of money is riding on the title. Laver is shooting for the coveted grand slam of amateur tennis—the Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States championships. Don Budge, who accomplished the feat in 1938, is the only other player in history to win all four. Laver is three-for-three so far this year.

Laver made the final Sunday by crushing Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 after Emerson had downed America's last hope, Chuck McKinley of St. Ann., Mo., 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, before a capacity crowd of 14,000 at the West Side Tennis Club. This makes the seventh straight year the United States has been shut out of the finals.

Carries U.S. Banner

In the women's division, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., carries the United States banner into the final. Miss Hard, the defending champion, plays Margaret Smith of Australia for the title. Miss Hard turned back Vicki Palmer, 17-year-old girls junior champion from Phoenix, 6-2, 6-3, and Miss Smith overcame Maria Bueno's devastating service 6-8, 6-3, 6-4 in the semifinals.

A victory for Laver would mean a fat professional contract, estimated between $75,000 and $125,000 after the Davis Cup challenge round in December.

"All the talk about the grand slam hasn't bothered me," said Laver. "In fact, if anything, it has helped me concentrate better, and that's the main thing. That's probably why I've been doing so well this year. My concentration is better. I used to have lapses."

Laver and Emerson have met seven times this year on all kinds of surface—grass, clay and Cement. Laver holds the upper hand, five victories to two.

On the other hand, this is Laver's sixth try at the United States championship and he never has won it. He bristles when it is suggested that he may be jinxed here.

"Of course, there's no jinx," he snapped. "How can there be a jinx when I've gotten to the finals twice in five previous tries? The entire idea is a laugh. I would say I have a good chance against Emerson."

As for Emerson, he doesn't take things quite as seriously as Laver. If you find anyone coming around offering $100,000 pro contracts, let me know, eh," he quipped. "I'm not really concerned with the grand slam. That's the Rocket's problem. It doesn't give me any more incentive. If he gets it, he's going to earn it."

Goalby Wins Denver Open By One Stroke

'Lucky' Shot Saves New Champion on 480-Yard 10th Hole

DENVER (AP) — The lucky shots are the difference between winning and losing.

Bob Goalby should know after collecting $4,300 first prize Sunday in the Denver Open Golf Tournament.

His final 69 gave him a 277, 3-under-par over the 6,753-yard par 35-35-70 Denver Country Club course. It was one stroke better than six other players in the closely bunched field—Art Wall, Jr., Billy Maxwell, Jack Fleck, Bob Duden, George Bayer and Bill Johnston.

Goalby, 31, who won his sixth tournament in five years on the money trail, said "a lucky shot—the kind you have to make to win—really saved me on 10."

On that 480-yard par 4 hole, Goalby's second shot hit into a bunker.

'Have To Make'

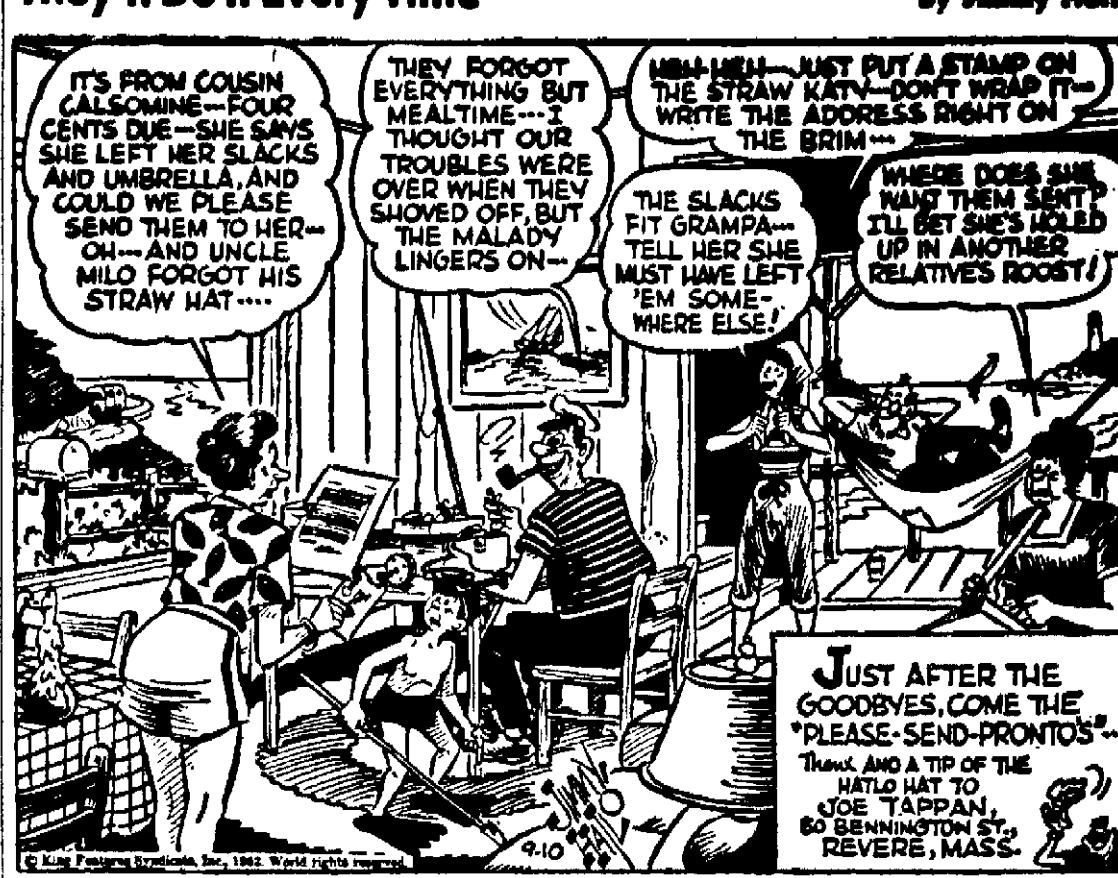

"My sand iron was a great shot, a lucky shot, but those are the kind you have to make to win," Goalby said. The ball landed and held on a green sloping away from the fairway.

Although he bogied the 460-yard par 4 18th, Goalby said "I didn't choke. I just misread the green." His putt from 3 1/2 feet missed by a bare half-inch.

After that putt, Goalby—in the next to last threesome—had anxious moments waiting out the final threesome made up of Wall, Johnston and Bayer.

Bayer and Wall could have tied Goalby with pars while Johnston needed a birdie to tie. Bayer and Wall both missed putts under five feet to go 1-over-par and Johnston sank his six-footer for a par, putting them all one stroke back.

Kubasiak Wins State Publinx Crown as Bayer Soars to 82

Senior Title Captured by Tom McKenny

GREEN BAY — With Appleton's Chuck Bayer blowing higher than a U2, Milwaukee's Hal Kubasiak leap-frogged from three strokes back to a relatively comfortable 2-stroke championship victory in the state public golf tournament at Brown County Sunday.

Kubasiak, 35-year-old ace of the Milwaukee Brown Deer Course covered the 36-hole, 2-day stretch in a lofty 8-over-par 150. Bayer and three others tied for second at 152.

Bayer had led at the halfway point Saturday with a sparkling 70, but his game exploded Sunday and he had to settle for an 82. His last chance for the title evaporated on No. 18 when he belted his approach 20 feet over the green and his return chip rolled six feet to the side of the cup.

Dadian Shoots 154

Knotted with Bayer were Racine's youthful Bill Dorece and Leroy May and Milwaukee's Bob Mueller. Tournament favorite Archie Dadian, scrambling hard but off line with his irons, finished at 154 with an 80 Sunday to go with his previous 74.

De Pere's Chuck Bielke aced the 150-yard No. 15 with a 6 iron. Another Milwaukeean, Fred Vertenik, took the A flight trophy with a 159 total, and Janesville's Bob Albrecht copped B flight honors with a 169.

A pair of Fox Cities stars staged a torrid battle in the senior division with Tom McKenny claiming top prize with a handsome 153 total on 76-77 rounds. His partner, Rich O'Brien, came in at 154 on 77-77 rounds. McKenny thus upset Janesville's Ray Netko, who held the senior title for two years. He finished at 163.

Although the Saturday night rain lengthened the course in the early Sunday hours, the greens remained greasy slick and putts refused to behave the way they were intended to, giving almost the entire field a good crack at the championship.

Kubasiak, primarily a long ball hitter, also had trouble on the greens and captured the goodies despite manufacturing a mere three birdies in the entire 36 holes.

150-Kubasiak, 73-77; 152-Chuck Bayer 70-82; Dorece, 75-77; Mueller, 74-78; 154-Dadian, 74-80; 155-Dave Grasse, Green Bay, 75-80; Don Studey, Racine, 79-76; Dave Wernicke, Milwaukee, 73-82; 156-Larry Reiner, Milwaukee, 79-77; 157-Lyle Gifford, Janesville, 82-83; Dave Turner, Delavan, 79-78; Darrel Campbell, Madison, 78-79; Henry Felker, Oshkosh, 76-81; Larry Kern, Milwaukee, 77-80; 158-Dennis Babb, Appleton, 75-83; John Bestin, Green Bay, 78-80; 159-Al Roth, Milwaukee, 81-78; Jan Hoffman, Madison, 81-78; Syl Bayer, Appleton, 81-78.

Other Fox Cities area scores 162-Gary Knoke, Appleton, 85-77; 164-Dave Grasse, Oshkosh, 78-86; 165-Bob Mc Donald, Neenah, 77-88; 166-Russ Rothenbach, Oshkosh, 80-85; 167-John Dever, Neenah, 83-87; 168-Tod Barnes, Neenah, 85-84; 169-Bob Duszak, Appleton, 87-84.

Waterloo, Iowa (AP) — Ray Santana smashed a grand slam home run a five-run eighth inning to give the Dubuque Packers a 6 to 2 victory Sunday over the Waterloo Hawks in the first Midwest League playoff game.

Waterloo, which won the second half season title and led in the league's over-standings, was unable to come back after the Dubuque outburst.

George Pressley allowed only seven hits to the Hawks, as he went the route for the victory.

The two teams will meet tonight in Waterloo of the second game of a five-game playoff series. Dubuque won the first half title.

Houston's Oilers took a sluttish but successful first step in their drive for another championship as the free-wheeling, aerial-oriented American Football League opened its third season over the weekend.

The Oilers, winners of both AFL titles to date, outlasted a furious second half by Buffalo and got by the Bills 28-23 Sunday. In other openers, the New York Titans were sparked by brand-new quarterback Lee Grosscup to a 28-17 victory over Oakland Sunday.

Ahner Haynes racked up four touchdowns as Dallas beat Boston 42-28 in a Saturday night game, and Denver recorded its first decision ever over San Diego Friday night, 30-21, with iron-armed Frank Tripucka spearheading the drive and a new coach outshining his old boss.

Houston ran up a 28-3 lead over Buffalo and then turned to time-consuming ground play as the Bills scrambled back. Art Baker triggered the rally with a scintillating 100-yard kickoff return. Then the Bills scored twice in the final quarter with the aid of pass interference calls. Warren Rabb passed for three of these touchdowns and went one yard for the other.

Blanda Passes

Charlie Hennigan netted two Houston touchdowns on passes from George Blanda and Billy Cannon. Charlie Tolar counted once on a 19-yard run, and Cannon tallied on a plunge. Blanda hit No. 16 of 31 passes, completing seven of eight on one scoring drive, but also saw six of his throws intercepted.

Grosscup, who was waived out of the National Football League last week and signed by the Titans on Friday, sparked the New York offensive after taking over in the second period. The one-time Utah star passed for three touchdowns, to Art Powell on plays going 80 and 64 yards and to Dick Christy on a 64-yard maneuver.

Haynes' remarkable running and the passing of Len Dawson carried the Texans over the Patriots. Haynes had scoring runs of 2, 25 and 29 yards, took a nine-yard pass from Dawson for another touchdown, and totaled 122 yards on 19 carries. Dawson also completed a scoring toss to Chris Burford as Dallas riddled Boston's touted defense. Babe Parilli stood out for the Patriots, gaining 214 yards with his passes.

Diaz Loses Split Decision To Pastrano

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Willie Pastrano of Miami dodged Rodolfo Diaz of Argentina for 10 rounds Saturday night and landed enough punches for a split decision.

Pastrano preserved his record of never having been knocked down in 74 fights, although he tried in the late rounds and stumbled badly in the ninth.

The 26-year-old second-ranked light heavyweight came into the ring at 184, nine pounds above his usual weight, and it slowed him badly.

However, he bounced around the ring elusive as a shadow while keeping his left in the 186-pound Argentine's face. Diaz, whose face was puffed badly in the final rounds, kept flailing after Pastrano and landed some hard hooks to the body. Several times the referee warned him about hitting too low.

Referee Jimmy Fearless scored the nationally televised bout 97-95 for Pastrano and judge Bunny Lovett concurred, 99-97. Judge Gus Jacobson's card showed 97-94 for Diaz.

Ban All Trash Burning, Fire Chief Requests

In Neenah was about $3.12, the records show. In 1960, for garbage and combustibles, it was $4.02. City collection of both began in 1958.

In 1955, it cost $46,802 to pick up garbage. In 1960, the cost for both garbage and combustibles was $73,371. The per capita costs are figured on the basis of a 15,000 population in 1955 and 18,000 in 1960.

Part of the cost increase is due to the growth of Neenah and the greater amount of material the city has to collect.

The 1955 and 1960 costs do not include an equipment charge for hauling. The city now charges the expenses for operating equipment against the collection account. Last year, the equipment charge was about $7,000.

The Neenah figures are collection costs only. Disposal of the garbage and combustibles is handled by the Neenah-Menasha Sewage Commission, which operates both the incinerator and the sewage treatment plant.

The budget for the commission this year is $201,000, split evenly between the two communities.

As well as burning garbage and combustibles, the treated and dried solids from the sewage plant are burned in the incinerator.

It is not possible to make a strict comparison of costs between Appleton and Neenah, because of different methods of disposal.

Disposes by Landfill

Appleton doesn't have an incinerator, and uses a sanitary landfill to dispose of its garbage.

In 1960, when it cost Neenah $1.02 per capita to collect both garbage and combustibles, it cost Appleton about $2.32 per capita to collect garbage only.

The operation of Appleton's sanitary landfill that year for garbage disposal amounted to $5,600.

The landfill budget that year was $11,200, but half is charged to the dumps and cleanup account, because there is a burning site at the landfill for rubbish and brush.

Green Bay prohibited all burning within the city 15 years ago, when its first incinerator was built at a cost of $275,000. A second incinerator is being planned now, and the estimated cost is about $600,000.

Officials in all the cities pointed out that the amount of burnable material to be collected is increased by leaps and bounds because of the modern-day trend to put almost every salable item in a package of some sort.

The sale of bulk items is decreasing steadily with the trend to put various quantities of merchandise in wrappers, cartons and boxes, they said.

First Election In New County

Races for Sheriff Nominations Feature Menominee Ballots

BY JERRY VAN RYZIN

KESHENA — Primary contests for sheriff on both the Republican and Democratic tickets will be the feature of the election in the new Menominee County Tuesday. Voters in the 16-month-old county, the former Menominee Indian reservation, will choose candidates in their first election for county offices.

Sheriff Wilmer Peters, who was appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson when the county was organized May 1, 1961, faces opposition for the Democratic nomination from Wilbur (Ted) Warrington.

The two candidates for sheriff on the Republican ticket are Aloysius Frechette and Mose Neosh. Francis Leon is running for sheriff as an independent.

Menominee County voters also will make a choice among four candidates seeking the Republican nomination for assemblyman from Shawano and Menominee counties. The candidates are Theodore Abrahamson, Tigerton, the incumbent; Hugo V. Baker and Orie A. Meyer, both of Shawano, and John R. Reinke, Bowler, route 1.

Marin Weining, Shawano, is the lone Democratic candidate for the assembly seat.

Big-Little Sister Party Is Scheduled

NEENAH — Neenah High School freshmen girls and other new student girls will be guests at a Big-Little Sister party from 7 to 9:15 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium. The party is sponsored by the school Girls Senate.

President of the Girls Senate is Lynn Guntzel and general chairman of the party is Sue Andrew. Entertainment is being planned by Linda Robinson and Haren Hanson is heading the judges and prizes committee. Pat Chappelle is in charge of staging and equipment and refreshments chairman is Jackie Anderson. Debbie Rawson is heading the welcoming committee and publicity chairman is Ann Hansen.

The program will include a hat judging contest, songs by Ann Darrow, a skit and selections by the Hungry 4.

Driver Pleads Guilty
Of Delinquency Charge
OSHKOSH — Keith Fossell, 20, 1415 W. Bent Ave., pleaded guilty this morning of contributing to the delinquency of minors and sentencing was set for Thursday by Judge James V. Sitter.
Fossell's arrest resulted from the apprehension of two girls, one 17 years old and the other 18, for stealing a tire for Fossell's car. The 17-year-old girl and a third girl, 14 years old, admitted drinking beer with Fossell in his car. Fossell was ordered jailed without bond until Thursday.

Chlorine Supply Could be Hurt

Appleton Gets Product by Truck Since Rail Strike

A prolonged shutdown of the Chicago and North Western Railroad could have a serious effect on the water chlorine supply, of chlorination, uses from three to four tons of chlorine per month, according to Water Supt. William U. Gallaher. He said the amounts of chlorine used vary with the time of year.

Since the Order of Telegraphers union went on strike against the railroad, chlorine shipments have been made to the Appleton area via truck from Milwaukee.

Prior to the strike, chlorine was shipped here and to other parts of the state on the Chicago line but we could get into trouble if the strike lasts a long time," U. Gallaher said. He reported that the City of Appleton, which obtains its water supply from the Fox River and does extensive the plant this morning which

At present there is no danger of Appleton running out of chlorine but we could get into trouble if the strike lasts a long time," U. Gallaher said. He reported that the City of Appleton, which obtains its water supply from the Fox River and does extensive

the plant this morning which would give Appleton about a six-week supply.

Gallaher indicated the Milwaukee firm supplying the city with chlorine would continue to make shipments by truck until the railroad strike is ended.

Other cities in the area using chlorine have been assured of truck deliveries for the duration of the strike.

However, any pinch of the supply would be felt throughout the Fox River Valley region.

5 on Way to Hospital Killed in 2-Car Crash

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (AP) — Five persons en route to a hospital were killed Sunday night when their car and a carload of football players collided head-on in rain and fog 11 miles south of Kirkland. Six football players were injured.

Killed were Herbert Widdifield and his wife Myrtle, both 70, of Englehart, Ont.; their son Barry, 34; and his wife, Shirley, 28, of Larder Lake, Ont., and Edna Brownlee, 33, mother of Shirley Widdifield.

They were going to Kirkland Lake to visit the younger Widdifields' infant son who is in a hospital.

THE PUBLIC CAN END THE SENSELESS STRIKE AGAINST THE C&NW!

ACTING IN BEHALF OF THE PUBLIC, A FACT FINDING "EMERGENCY BOARD" APPOINTED BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES MADE RECOMMENDATIONS TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE. THESE RECOMMENDATIONS DESERVE — AND MUST NOW HAVE — THE FULL WEIGHT OF PUBLIC SUPPORT.

IN MAKING ITS RECOMMENDATIONS, THE EMERGENCY BOARD SAID THE UNION SHOULD WITHDRAW ITS PROPOSED JOB FREEZE RULE BECAUSE IT "WOULD SERIOUSLY IMPAIR EFFICIENCY AND WOULD REPRESENT AN UNDESIRABLE APPROACH TO JOB SECURITY." THE BOARD ALSO SAID "WE MUST DECLARE UNEQUIVOCALLY THAT THE RETENTION OF UNNECESSARY POSITIONS IS NOT AN ACCEPTABLE FORM OF JOB SECURITY."

C&NW RAILWAY ACCEPTS THE EMERGENCY BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS. THE ORDER OF RAILROAD TELEGRAPHERS DOES NOT!

THESE RECOMMENDATIONS BY PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S EMERGENCY BOARD WOULD SETTLE THE DISPUTE—WE ACCEPT THEM—THE UNION DOES NOT!

TO THE UNION — The Presidential Board recommended that the Order of Railroad Telegraphers withdraw its proposed rule, which is:

"No position in existence on December 3, 1957, will be abolished or discontinued except by agreement between the carrier and the organization."

TO THE RAILWAY — In the case of the permanent abolishment of regular positions, the Presidential Board recommended "a comprehensive program of employee protection." That program is:

Displacement Allowance. An employee who stays in C&NW service on a lower paid job would be paid for five full years the difference between the lower wage and the average wage he received in the previous 12 months.

Furlough Allowance. Employees deprived of employment would get monthly allowances equivalent to 60 per cent of wages in the prior 12 months—based on seniority, and subject to other earnings. For 5- to 10-year employees, this would continue for three years. For employees with 15 years or more, such allowances would continue for five full years.

Separation Allowance. As an option, an employee could resign to take the established separation allowance. Depending upon years of service, this is up to approximately 16½ months at regular pay. The minimum is approximately four months of pay for 1 year of service.

Moving—Traveling Expense. The railway would pay moving expenses for household goods and personal effects, and traveling and living expenses for employees while transferring to jobs in other cities, as well as other benefits. C&NW would guarantee employees against any loss on the sale of homes, and do the same for employees with unexpired leases.

Pensions, Free Transportation, Hospitalization Benefits would be continued for any furloughed employees during the protective period.

Preference of Employment would be granted to furloughed employees in available positions.

Training and Retraining Programs would be started to help furloughed people improve their qualifications.

40-Hour Week Guarantees would be established for relief employees—those on "Extra Boards" with insufficient seniority to hold regular jobs.

"Substantial Advance Notice" would be given to the union, and an opportunity to state its views, on job eliminations.

THIS IS MORE THAN FAIR!

ONLY ONE DAY BEFORE THE STRIKE TOOK PLACE ANOTHER PRESIDENTIAL EMERGENCY BOARD RECOMMENDED THAT THIS SAME UNION WITHDRAW THE SAME DEMAND SERVED ON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.

THAT IMPARTIAL PUBLIC FACT FINDING BOARD SAID THE UNION'S DEMAND WOULD GIVE IT "ABSOLUTE VETO POWER" AND WOULD BE "TOTALLY INCONSISTENT WITH PREVAILING AMERICAN COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PRACTICE." IT ALSO SAID THE UNION'S PROPOSED RULE WOULD "IMPRISON THE CARRIER IN AN ADMINISTRATIVE STRAIT JACKET."

IN THE FACE OF THIS SECOND REPORT, THE UNION CONTINUES TO IGNORE THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE PUBLIC'S REPRESENTATIVES.

WHAT CAN THE PUBLIC DO NOW? EVERY PERSON AND EVERY INDUSTRY MAY PROPERLY ASK WHAT OUR GOVERNMENT IS DOING TO COMPEL THE UNION TO ACCEPT THE PRESIDENTIAL EMERGENCY BOARD RECOMMENDATIONS.

SAMPLE BALLOT

Primary Election

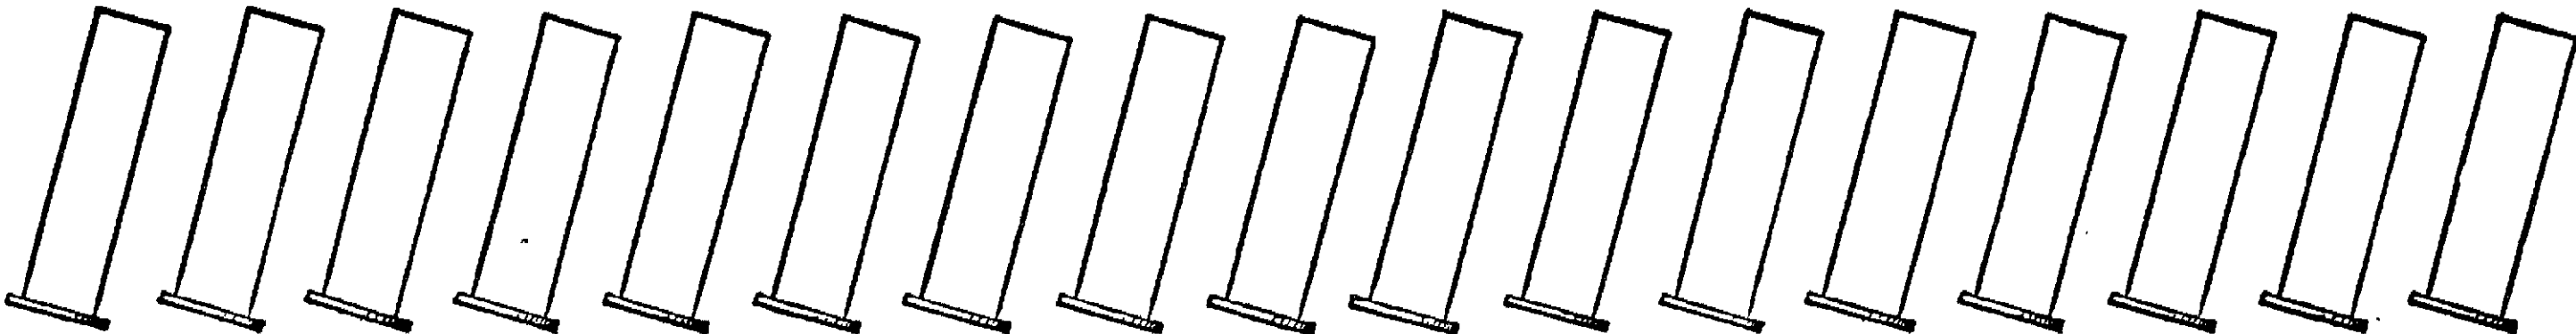

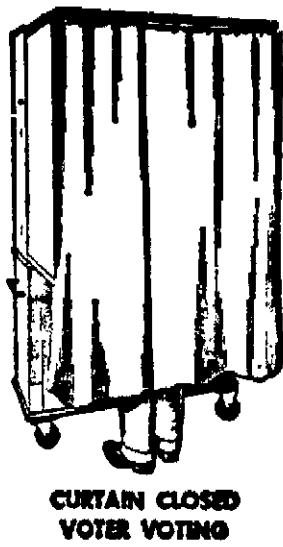

City of Appleton
Ward 1

City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wis., and the 9th Ward, 2nd Precinct, Calumet County, Wis., Town of Grand Chute, and the villages of Kimberly and Little Chute, Outagamie County, Wisconsin.

The State Law does NOT PERMIT splitting your ballot in the PARTY PRIMARY. The Voting Machine therefore prevents you from doing so. You may enter the primary of any ONE PARTY of your choice. Turn the PRIMARY LEVER down over that party's name. Leave it DOWN. Your party row is now unlocked for voting. All other party rows remain locked.

If You Change Your Mind, Turn UP a Voting Pointer and Turn DOWN Another for the Same Office.

As no votes are registered until the Red Handle is moved to open the curtain, you can make as many changes as you desire while the Red Handle is at the right side. The machine is so arranged that you can turn down only the proper number of voting pointers for each office; you cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates. Each candidate's voting pointer is located just above the name; a voting pointer must be turned down over the name of each candidate for whom you wish to vote. LEAVE VOTING POINTERS DOWN. No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the Red Handle to the left returns the voting pointers to the original position before the curtain begins to open.

CAN ONE PERSON FEEL ANOTHER'S PAIN?

YES □ NO □

Yes Complete identification is possible between some individuals so that when one gets hurt the other feels the pain too. One woman who was living many miles from her twin sister told the psychologists who were studying the psychic power of twins "Once I woke up feeling very blue and depressed I couldn't imagine why. Then my sister telephoned from Ontario to tell me she was in serious trouble." A mother in the South reports that whenever one of her twin girls turns her ankle gets a tooth ache or has a headache the other one feels the same pain even when they are at different houses. What does television mean to children?

Escape — Boredom — Both according to a three year study of the effect of television upon children. The researchers discovered that it is the child who has poor relationships with his parents or who does not get along well with other children, who leans most on television as a pastime. The authors of the study conclude, "The more the (children) have to escape from problems in real life, the more likely they are to use television for escape and to live in its fantasy life rather than in reality." This problem is touched upon in greater detail in the help-giving booklet "The Sky Child." For your copy send 25 cents and your name and address to this column, care of this newspaper. Richard Chamberlain Reaps Record Fan Mail

TV's Doc Kildare Mailbag Champ
With 12,000 Letters Every Month

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Want to know who's the all-time champ mail-puller at MGM?
It isn't Clark Gable, Frank Sinatra, Van Johnson nor Peter Lawford.
It's young Doc Kildare—Richard Chamberlain.

In just one brief season on television, this earnest-looking actor has amassed a greater volume of mail than did the movie idols after years of stardom. It amounts to a staggering 12,000 letters and cards per month, according to the studio, which claims that no other personality in Hollywood gets more.

Mobbed by Fans
That's just one of the changes that have happened to Dick Chamberlain in the past year. It was just a year ago that I talked to him for the first time. "Dr. Kildare" had not gone on the air yet, and Dick was still able to walk around freely, like a normal human being.

Not now. Last week he took a rare vacation to Las Vegas. Mob scene. Dick had to abandon sitting beside the hotel pool, so great was the furor.

Otherwise Dick appears to be bearing up well under the immense change in his station. He is young (27) and can withstand the grind of a weekly hour film. Chamberlain is not given to

Woman Nearly Itches To Death

"I nearly itched to death 7 1/2 years. Then I found a new wonder cream. Now I'm happy," writes Mrs. P. Ramsay of L.A. Calif. Here's a blessed relief from the tortures of vaginal itch, eczema, itching, chafing, rash and eczema with an amazing new scientific formula called LANACANE. This fast acting medicated cream kills harmful bacteria germs while it soothes raw, irritated and inflamed tissue. Stops scratching—so speeds healing. Don't suffer! Get LANACANE at drugstore.

much frivolity. Not on the set at least; friends say he opens up away from the studio. While working, he's pretty much tied up with the bone wearing routine of starring in the equivalent of 25 feature movies a year.

Likes Being Kildare
Unlike many another television star, he has no great urge to make a feature film.

I mentioned that his surgical counterpart, Vincent Edwards, took a different attitude. Though tied to Bing Crosby Enterprises for more of "Ben Casey," Edwards staged a strike until he got more money and time off for features.

"Ben and I do a lot of things differently," Dick said with a grin.

Dick lives alone in a house near the Hollywood Bowl. His steady date is singer Clara Ray, but so far he has avoided matrimony. That helps the mail pull, the letters being preponderately from teen-age girls.

3 State Colleges Offer TV Course On U. S. Economy

Three Wisconsin state colleges will join some 400 institutions across the nation this fall in offering a televised course on "The American Economy" for college credit.

They are the state colleges at Stevens Point and Whitewater, and the Wisconsin State College and Institute of Technology at Platteville.

The program to be seen over the CBS Television network for 32 weeks beginning in late September is co-sponsored by the American Economic Association, the Joint Council on Economic Education and the National Task Force on Economic Education.

Participants will watch the early morning program on their own sets, but will meet frequently on the state college campuses for discussions, comments and examinations.

Now! Calluses, Corns, Warts Rub off like Magic

Thousands of sufferers from jamming corns, calluses, and common warts now report astonishing results with an amazing new formula that rubs them off painlessly and safely without danger of infection from cutting, acids or abrasives. Secret is a wonder working medicated cream called DERMASOFT that softens and dissolves those tormenting, hard to remove growths so that they rub right off, leaving skin silky smooth and soft. So don't suffer another minute. Get DERMASOFT at all drugstores.

Engine Starts in Burning Car After
Water Is Played on Fire
CLINTONVILLE — The old adage about fire and water not mixing proved wrong early today.
The William Aylward family, 184 Roberts St., waked at 12:45 a.m. to the blast of the family's car horn. A check showed the car was on fire where it was parked in front of the house.
Members of the family rushed out with a garden hose in an attempt to extinguish the fire. The combination of flame damage and water started the auto's engine, and it traveled several feet down the curb and out of reach of the garden hose.
Clintonville volunteer firemen were called to extinguish the blaze. The car was a total loss. Cause of the blaze was unknown.

Hours for Voting
FREMONT — Voting hours for Tuesday's primary election have been extended by the village board.

Polls in the village hall will be open from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. to accommodate voters who work late in the Fox Cities.

learned opinion is that there is nothing organic wrong with him, but Casey (Vincent Edwards) is convinced that there is.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Germany Fathers and Sons, repeated tonight, has an interesting premise — a comparison of today's German youth with the Nazi ridden generation — but the result is not as gripping as it might have been. One fault is that the early portion of the program is yet another rehash of the rise of Nazism. Another drawback is that the testimony of many of the Germans must perforce be translated, and there is some confusion as to who is talking.

WELCOME HOME JOEY
Joey's dad made it.
Could you?

Joey's back, and all's well. It was a long siege after meningitis struck. Specialists... therapy... special nurses... costly medicines...
A catastrophe, sure... one that even the protection of the medical and surgical insurance that Joey's dad had couldn't begin to cover. It would have wiped out the family's savings — and more.
But Joey's dad had the maximum security of the new Wisconsin Physicians Service Ready Reserve Major Medical Plan. For only a few dollars per month the entire family is covered for long-extended hospital care — therapy treatments — even the rental of the wheel chair and the private nurse that Joey will need for quite a while yet. How about you? Such severe — but not uncommon — blows of fate could bring havoc to your family's future. Give your family the added security of major medical health insurance now available from your WPS representative.
Two broad-coverage plans are available with maximum benefits of $10,000 per person for each illness or disability:
READY RESERVE MAJOR MEDICAL — a low cost $500, $750 or $1000 deductible plan designed for individual and family protection.
PROTECTION PLUS MAJOR MEDICAL — available to groups and individuals who want a base plan plus the added protection of a $100 deductible major medical plan.

Police Seek Amherst Man

Companion Turned Over to Authorities In Portage County

WAUPACA—Police are searching for Charles R. Helsing, 20, route 1, Amherst, wanted by Portage County for questioning about theft, breaking and entering, disorderly conduct and speeding.

Helsing and his companion, Edward E. Strebe, 22, route 4, Waupaca, were caught about 4 p.m. Saturday. Helsing made a dash for freedom when the sheriff's car was delayed in Waupaca National Guard homecoming parade traffic.

Helsing, according to Sheriff Ray Abrahamson, has an injured hand. He shoved his fist through the windshield of a car in an apparent show of strength.

120 Miles an Hour
The two men outdistanced Portage County police early Saturday afternoon in a chase during which police said speeds exceeded 120 miles an hour. A set of new tires, believed stolen, later were found in the trunk of the abandoned car.

The men first were seen near the Waupaca Army during the homecoming parade. When police converged on the area, the men ran across W. Fulton Street and were surrounded near an alley behind a food store.

Enroute to the county jail Helsing jumped from the sheriff's car at Session and Main streets. He was chased by Undersheriff George Meating but managed to escape when Meating fell, the sheriff said.

Strebe, who also attempted to leave the car, was restrained by the sheriff.

Helsing, who uses the name of Charles Schroeder, was sentenced to one year in the state reformatory in January, 1961, on a charge of forgery.

Both Helsing and Strebe have arrest records in Waupaca County.

Sheriff Abrahamson said Helsing's hand injury was serious as he lost a large amount of blood in the sheriff's car.

The sheriff's department was assisted by county police, city police and visiting policemen who were in Waupaca helping with the homecoming parade traffic.

The search for Helsing centered in the northwest section of Waupaca. It was believed he ran into swamp area along the Waupaca River.

Strebe was turned over to Portage county authorities about 8:40 p.m. Saturday.

Gardner Dam Project

New Chapel Planned For Valley Boy Scouts

Construction of a chapel at Gardner Dam Camp of the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, will start soon, it was announced by John R. Whitney, council president, and George A. Howden, chairman of the chapel building committee.

The need for a chapel for scouts of all religious affiliations has been recognized for many years. Heretofore it has been necessary for some groups to travel a considerable distance to attend religious services in churches located at nearby communities, while others have held services in the open. In 1960 Valley Council decided that a chapel would be an appropriate memorial for the 15th anniversary of scouting.

All religious groups will use the chapel, but will hold their own services.

The structure was designed by George G. Narovec and Associates and will be constructed of local stone with heavy beams supporting the high pitched - roof. The front of the chapel will be open with those in attendance occupying rustic benches located outdoors.

The building will be located within sound of the rapids of the Wolf River, and its design will harmonize with surroundings of pine and spruce trees.

Funds for the project were provided by friends of the Boy Scout program. The chapel will be dedicated to the memory of pioneer scouts of the Valley Council.

Other members of the Chapel Committee and the Rev. Robert Vandenberg, Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein, the Rev. I. B. Kindem, the Rev. Shelby Lee, Joseph C. McCarty, Arnold Cohodas, John P. Reeve and C. R. Seaborne Sr.

Mills mainly affected are Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, the Kimberly-Clark mill at Kimberly, Combined Locks Paper Co. and Appleton Coated Paper Co.

A barrage of telegrams have been piling up on the desks of President Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Goldberg as city and industry officials ask for an end to the strike of railroad telegraphers which has halted operations on the 15,000 mile rail line.

Latest appeal was made by J. E. Hart, manager of the Wisconsin Paper and Pulp Manufacturers Traffic Association.

Hart cited the serious effect the strike was having on the industry and pointed out that food industries, dependent upon the paper industry for packaging could be severely hit.

A paper industry spokesman pointed out that many food producers including dairies, did not maintain large stocks of packaging materials. With curtailments of shipments, the industries face losses.

A spot check of Wisconsin paper mills indicate that Fox Cities mills are the hardest hit. Complicating the situation is a threatening shortage of box cars.

The grain harvest, now at its height in the Great Plains, uses high-grade box cars—the same type needed by the paper industry.

"Another thing, our customers are starting to get worried about possible shortages of paper. This is also having its effects felt on the business," one paper executive explained.

So far no mills have been forced to close. But no one is predicting how long mills can continue to operate.

Employees hardest hit in the Fox Cities so far are rail employees. Telegraphers and other workers idled by honoring telegrapher picket lines receive strike benefits of $10.20 a day.

Other workers idled by the strike would be eligible for unemployment compensation after the second week.

Market Prices Falling Slowly

Little to Inspire Investors as Slow Decline Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices slipped gradually early this afternoon in slow trading.

Changes were small and there were scattered gamets. The list had opened mixed but the tone slowly deteriorated.

There was little in the weekend business and economic news to inspire investors. Without some special prodding, the slow decline of last week carried over to the first half day of this week's trading.

Main Factor

The one weekend development the market watched intently was the latest U2 incident in which a Nationalist Chinese plane was brought down by the Red Chinese air force. The tense foreign situation was believed a main factor in last week's market slide.

At noon The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4, at 222.4 with industrials off .7, rails off .2 and utilities off .1.

Good News Expected

At noon the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.56 at 598.30, again slipping below the critical 600 level.

A business weekly reported that dividend reductions and omissions were increasing almost daily. A business newspaper mentioned AT&T and General Motors as being among the blue chip issues that are likely to have good news for shareholders at the end of the year.

Just about all major sections of the market were a shade lower. An exception was the oil group which showed mostly small plus signs.

Amerasia was ahead a little more than 1 and fractional gains included Standard (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch Texaco was off a minimum fraction.

Create Buying Interest

A brokerage firm wrote clients about a new Libyan well of Jersey Standard and said it might create buying interest in the entire oil group.

Wide moving IBM was off more than 1 at the opening and then recovered to post a small gain. However, the stock turned again and at one point was down almost 5.

It recovered part of this loss. Other growth issues such as Texas Instruments, Polaroid and Litton gave up fractions.

Bond prices were mostly unchanged in early trading.

Prices unchanged to 2 1/2 higher; 70 per cent or better grade A 57, 90 B 56 1/2, 89 C 55, Cars 90 B 57 1/2, 89 C 57 1/2.

Breeders' Sale Offers Quality Stock

Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — Dairymen will have an opportunity to acquire top quality Holsteins or Guernseys at the Show Window Sale by the Badger Breeders Cooperative Wednesday and Thursday.

The fourth annual event will be at the Shawano County Fairgrounds. Sixty Holsteins will be sold on Wednesday, and 40 Guernseys on Thursday.

All of the animals are from dams credited with over 400 pounds of butterfat on Standard DHIA or HIR test. Representing top cow families, all consignments are by Badger Breeders sires.

"This is a golden opportunity to purchase some outstanding foundation animals from some of the best sires in the nation," dairymen are advised by Kenneth Wallin, general manager of Badger Breeders.

The sale on both days will begin at 11 a.m. Lunch will be available on the grounds. Open house will be held at headquarters of the cooperative for inspection of the bull stud and facilities.

E. L. Schmiede Dies at 77

Retired Meat Cutter Worked in Appleton Markets for 55 Years

Edward L. Schmiede, 77, Appleton butcher for more than a half-century, died at 5:30 p.m. Sunday after a long illness. He lived at 731 W. Harris St.

The veteran meat cutter retired eight years ago after 55 years service with Appleton meat markets, primarily Voecks Brothers and Kronberg Meat Markets. He started as a delivery boy at the age of 15, then spent a few years in the front shop, becoming a full-fledged butcher at 18. He celebrated his 50th year as a meat cutter in July of 1953, a year before his retirement.

Schmiede was born in Appleton Dec. 4, 1884. He was a charter member of the Meat Cutters Union.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Paul Lutheran Church with the Rev. F. M. Brandt officiating. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Tuesday and at the church after 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Survivors include the widow, one daughter, one brother, one sister and a grandchild.

Xavier Girls to Report On State Meeting Of Student Councils

The Xavier girls' students council will hold an assembly Sept. 20 to hear a report by Mary Regan and Mary VanderLoop on the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Student Councils, which both girls attended this summer in Stevens Point.

The girls' student council expects to have a new student directory ready for distribution at the end of this month. This major project has been in preparation since last year, and will list the names and addresses of all students and faculty members.

Sister Rose Catherine is moderator of the group.

The Ninth District of the Wisconsin Department of the American Legion held its annual fall meeting at Little Chute Sunday. Donald Skelly, Milton, state department commander, was keynote speaker. Ninth district officers at the conference were Eldred Bergner,
